DEFENSE TO OFFER ALIBI IN VIVIANO KIDNAPING CASE

Try to Prove Defendant
Was in Crystal City, Monsieur Letters Were Written.

STATE RESTS ITS CASE

Experts Testify Same Person Wrote Samples, Checks and Notes to Boy's Father.

The defense opened today in the case of Michael Angelo Santino, 42 years old, a grocer of 920 Washington street, on trial on a charge of kidnaping Gaetano Viviano, 8-year-old son of Gaetano Viviano, a wealthy manufacturer of 5855
Waterman avenue, March 1 last.

Thomas Rowe Jr., Santino's attorney, in his opening statement said
he would offer the testimony of writing experts introduced by the State and also would prove that Santino was in Crystal City, Mo., 40 miles from St. Louis, on the day of the kidnaping.

One of his witnesses, he said,
was Gaetano Viviano, of Ninth and Wash streets, first cousin of the boy's father. This cousin, he said, would testify that he went to Crystal City with Santino Feb. 28, the day before the kidnaping, and remained on the last train that night.

Santino there. The State rested its case at 9 o'clock last night.
The jurors this morning examined
a reading class all the specimens of writing introduced in the case.

Handwriting Experts Testify.
Testimony of handwriting experts
in their opinion Santino wrote
the letters received by the boy's father, demanding $50,000 ransom, is the principal reliance of the prosecution. The father yesterday testified that he paid $50,000 ransom, paying the money under a stone on the Highway road, near a bridge, as the papers directed.

There were three of these letters
all were addressed to "Gaetano Viviano, 5855 Waterman avenue."
The writer making a slight mistake in the address. Comparison of these letters with writing obtained from Santino by Detective Chief Allender
and the expert handwriting testimony.
The Viviano boy, who was the principal witness at yesterday's hearing, did not identify Santino as one of the three men who kidnaped him, as one of five men who, from time to time, visited the house on High street, near Wash street, where he was held for ransom 12 days.

When Santino was pointed out to the boy in the courtroom the boy said he could not recall ever having seen Santino before.

Chief Allender identified samples of writing which Santino made at the direction after being arrested.
The samples of writing, he said, were the same as those which Santino made at the direction after being arrested.

Bank Teller on Stand.
R. B. Mittenberger, of Ferguson, teller for the Merchants-Laclede National Bank, was the first handwriting expert called to the stand. He compared the samples, the ransom envelopes, the 25 checks, and the Santino's signature on his court bond and said that in his opinion all were written by the same hand. A peculiarity of all the writing, he said, was the shading was on the down-stroke. The o's, a's, e's, he added, were similar and the i's were dotted uniformly. He called attention to the peculiarity that in the Waterman envelope address, on the letters and the samples the number 5857 was written with a space between the 5
and the second 5.

On cross-examination, he was asked if he understood Italian writing. He replied that he did not, but that in 42 years of service in a bank
he never had made a mistake in a signature.

Stephen L. St. Jean of 3822 Demarest street, secretary and treasurer of the Chouteau Trust Co., who said he had been in the banking business 25 years and "had never lost money to a forger" also testified that the writing on the sample envelopes and checks were by the same hand. He found similarity in the o's and a's, the capital W in the word Waterman and in the
to the dividing of the figures in the number 5857.

Weighed and Found Wanting

Drawn by Louis Raemaekers, the Famous Dutch Cartoonist.

GERMANY: I'M AFRAID, WILHELM, THAT LANSING IS RUINING OUR PERFECTLY GOOD REPUTATION.

Mr. Raemaekers is in the United States drawing a series of cartoons on present-day episodes of the great war. These timely cartoons appear exclusively in the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis.

o'clock last night. The Viviano boy, sitting beside his father, went to sleep before the session terminated.
Earlier in the evening he had shown a lively interest in the trial, and at times had stood up to get a better view of witnesses.

Viviano Boy on Stand.
Frank Viviano, the kidnaped boy,
chubby, dark-haired, brown-eyed,
alert and quick to answer questions,
took the witness stand at the opening of the trial yesterday. There was objection to his testimony on the ground that he was too young to be a competent witness, but his answers to preliminary questions swept aside this contention.

After giving his name and address and stating his age as "eight and a half," he said he was a pupil at the Chaminade College "at Clayton, Mo., on the Denny road," and formerly attended St. Roch's parochial school at Waterman and Rosedale avenues,
about two blocks west of his home.

The boy was questioned by Rowe as to whether he knew the nature of an oath.
"Do you know what it means to come here and not tell the truth?"
asked Rowe.

"If you don't tell the truth you get punished," replied the boy.
"How punished?"
"Go to hell."
"What?"
"Go to hell."

The boy then testified that on the morning of March 1 last he was on his way to St. Roch's School from home. Here is his description of the kidnaping in answer to the question:

"What happened to you as you walked along Waterman avenue that morning?"
"When I got past the River
des Peres, about the fifth house, I saw a man coming out and he told me if I was going to school, and he said yes, and he told me 'I'll take you up there,' and he took hold of me and put me up in the wagon, helped me up in the wagon. And when he got past the school he claimed like the horses wouldn't stop and he went faster and faster and suddenly we got on Delmar and I don't know which way we went. There were two men in the wagon and one lifted me up in the wagon."

The boy told of starting to scream
when he saw they were passing the school. One of the men, he said, held a hand over his mouth, but later released him on his promise to keep still. He told of being taken to a house now known to have been on High street near Wash street, where he was held prisoner until March 13.

Tells of Writing Letter.
The boy was asked if the men who held him prisoner ever talked about money.
"No," he replied, "only when I wrote the letter."

"Who asked you to write a letter?"
"Charlie."
"How did he tell you to write the letter—what did he say?"
"He told me to write: 'Dear Father,' and told me: 'I am sick;
I want you to bring to send fifty thousand dollars. You know you love me; you want me to be home.'"

The witness said he wrote this letter on his school tablet with a lead pencil.
"Now, what became of the letter?"

"Joe told me that he threw it into the fire," he said, "and he told me that he threw it in the fireplace and burned it. And I told him after about a day: 'Who did you send the letter to?' and he told me he sent it to Joe's father. I thought he sent some letter to my father, not to Joe's father. And he never said nothing else after that."

Tried to Escape Twice.
"Did you try to get away while you were in that room, Frank, and how many times did you try?"
"Oh, about twice."
"What happened when you tried to get away?"
"He ran after me a little bit."
"Who?"
"Charlie."
"How did you get away from that house finally?"

"Oh, they told me—you know Joe
had a wife that was in the hospital.
He always went out in the night
and he came back about 11 o'clock and Charlie slept with me, and Joe went out about 5 o'clock once, the last day, the 13th of March, and Joe went out and Charlie was going out.
He sat on the window; you know all the windows were nailed."

"He sat on the window for about an hour, and when I waked up in my bed I was kind of scared. The two windows were open and there was a rope hanging down out of that window, and I saw Charlie in that other front room. In that other part of the room, and he told me—excuse me—
I told him I wanted to go home, and he said: 'Here's 10 cents,' and he took me down the steps."

"Has Not Seen Men Since."
The boy then told of being left on the street and being picked up by the Rev. J. J. Butler of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church, who returned him
to his parents.
On cross-examination the boy was asked by Attorney Rowe:
"You have never seen Charlie or Joe since then, have you?"

"No."
"Now, you never saw this defendant here up in that room, did you?"
"No, sir."
"You never saw this man in that wagon?"
"No, sir."

The boy before this had said that he could identify all the kidnapers, with the possible exception of the man who drove the wagon.

NEW EXCISE RULE PERMITS
MUSIC IN ALL CAFES

Fact Brought Out by Opposition to Renewal of License for Dramshop
at 814 North Grand Avenue.
Excise Commissioner Lewis,
answering objections to the removal of the dramshop license of John Schappner, proprietor of the Maxine Cafe, 814 North Grand avenue,
today said he had given permission to every cafe in the city, whether connected with a saloon or not, to have music, despite a statute prohibiting the playing of music in "rooms adjoining a saloon."

Lewis' statement followed a protest made by former Excise Commissioner Thomas E. Mulvihill in behalf of W. J. Comstock, that Schappner allowed music to be played in the cafe to which a saloon is attached. Mulvihill said this was in violation of the law. Lewis said he would not rescind his order.

Schappner, replying to the objections, among whom was Philomen Bevis, general secretary of the Y.
M. C. A., denied he served youths and girls under age. His attorney declared Schappner required customers of doubtful age to produce registration cards and if there were not available, the youth was not served with intoxicants.

The case will be decided tomorrow.

The body of Albert W. Klosterman, 29 years old, a druggist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Klosterman of 2607 Elliot avenue, who was drowned in the White River last Wednesday near Reed's Spring,
Stone County, Mo., was brought

PEACE OR REVOLT MUST COME SOON, HOCH SAYS

Patience and Strength of People
Nearing End, Reichstag
Member Declares.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 19.—After the Socialist conference at Wurzburg
had adopted the resolution rejecting a motion to bind the party to vote against war credits in the Reichstag, Herr Hoch, a member of the Reichstag, declared on behalf of the independent Socialists that they were in favor of the country's defense and would not refuse to vote for credits as long as the imperial Government failed to promise the adoption of the peace demands of the Social Democrats and to make changes in the Constitution.

Herr Hoch added that the patience and strength of the people in all countries were coming to an end,
and that the Government ought to understand that unless peace came within a few weeks revolutionary convulsions would arise from the masses.

A mutiny among the German sailors at the Belgian port of Ostend
who refused to go on board submarines is reported by the Belgisch Dagblad.

The newspaper says an officer was thrown into the sea and that 20 mutineers were removed in handcuffs to Bruges.

Clash Between Austrian and German Sailors Reported in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Official diplomatic dispatches received here
report mutiny in the Austrian navy and clashes between Austrian sailors and crews of the German submarine fleet, based at Pola, in which officers on both sides have been killed and which resulted in a decision to change the base of the German flotilla.

Deputy Sheds Light Upon Peace Policy of German Government.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 19.—The keyto the policy of the German Government in refusing to make any definite statement of peace terms is furnished by Herr Hoch, a Socialist member of the Reichstag. German newspapers report that the deputy told yesterday how Dr. von Beth-mann-Hollweg before his retirement
as Imperial Chancellor declared to the Socialist members of the Reichstag that as Chancellor he could not commit himself but must pull out in the peace negotiations whatever could be obtained for Germany.

Herr Hoch cited this as proof of the ambiguous game the Government is playing with its various indefinite peace declarations.

TRADES COUNCIL UNION NEWS
URGES UNDIVIDED PATRIOTISM

Official Organ of Building Trades Council, in First Number, Favors Peaceful Strike Settlement.

The Trades Council Union News,
of which P. J. Morrin is editor and manager and Robert C. Kroll, associate editor, made its initial appearance today. It is the official organ of the St. Louis Building Trades Council and is to be published each Friday.
The leading editorial of the first issue, "America First," is an appeal for patriotism "without strings."
Another editorial calls for methods
of adjusting labor difficulties,
and still another asks for cooperation between employer and employee. A cartoon on the same page depicts the I. W. W. as a snake in the grass that should be crushed by organized labor.

On the first page of the four-page is a banner line reading: "Every Union Man Should Have a Liberty Bond in His Home." There is an article by Samuel Gompers, "Russia's Travail for Regeneration," and another by Charles J. Lammert, president of the Building Trades Council, explaining the purposes and aims of the publication.

SOUTHWEST COAL MINERS AT WORK PENDING NEGOTIATIONS

Strike Is Postponed and Union Officials and Operators Are Trying to Reach Agreement.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 19.—
Thirty-five thousand coal miners who were to have struck this morning in the Southwest field are at work and the representatives of the mine workers and the operators have resumed negotiations in an effort to adjust their differences.

The strike, which was to have begun this morning in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas, was deferred yesterday afternoon by order of the district presidents pending the reopening of negotiations.

The main point of difference existing between the operators and the miners is a penalty on the clause
which was embodied in the contract
signed by the miners and operators of the central field in Washington.
There are also minor wage differences in Missouri, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The Kansas miners have all of their claims granted save that of the fine system, according to Alexander Howat, president of the district.

methods and the state of public feeling in the United States on questions in which Japan is most deeply interested.

Thieves Take Family Wash.

Thieves raided several back yards
near Fourth and East Courts streets yesterday afternoon. The family wash was stolen from the clothes line of Mrs. Emil Barthol-

chickens, butter, eggs and sausage
was reported by Fred Contini, 310 East Courts, and Eudalya Louisiana, 308 East Courts.

TESTIFIES STRIKERS CAUSED RACE RIOTS

Armour & Co. Official Is Witness at Congressional Investigation.

The first witness to testify today,
at the second day of the congressional committee's investigation into the race riots in East St. Louis last summer, was Robert E. Conway, general manager of Armour & Co., at the National Stockyards.

In answer to a question, he said that in his opinion the riots were caused by agitators among the former employees of the Aluminum Ore
Co. who had been on strike since last April. He was asked to give the names of these agitators and said
the only one he could remember was that of a man named Wolff, whose first name he did not know. He promised to obtain other names and give them to the Congressional Committee.

Conway said the first talk he heard of driving the negroes out of town
was after the United States Court had granted an injunction against the interference with the workers at the ore plant by the strikers. After that, he said, certain ringleaders
among the strikers took up the practice of waylaying and beating strikebreakers employed at the plant. Some of these strikebreakers were negroes,
he said, but not all.

"Do you think the riots were the result of prejudice against the negroes as strikebreakers or because of their race?" Conway was asked.
"Both," he answered.

Conway also testified as to the interruption of industries because of the riots. In his own plant, he said, 40 per cent of the employees were negroes, and most of these failed to return to work for several days after the riots of May 28 and July 2. After the trouble of July 2, he continued, Armour's cattle-killing plant had to reduce its daily output from 1000 to 500 head and for a week the output of the hog-killing plant was reduced 75 per cent. The fertilizer plant, in which all the employees were negroes,

had to be shut down for a time.

GIRL MISSING FOR 2 WEEKS FOUND WHEN HOUSE IS RAISED

Police of the Dayton Street Station
last night arrested Mrs. Lee Smith, of 3319 Lucas avenue, Mrs. Edith Frank of 3337 Lucas avenue and Mrs. Kate von Meidel of 3304 Lucas avenue on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of young girls.
They are held for the Circuit Attorney.

In the home of Mrs. Smith, the police found Irene White of Mattoon, Ill., who has been sought for two weeks at the request of her parents.
In the raids last night four girls and two children were taken in addition to three women.

AUTOIST DENIES HUGGING WOMAN

Fine Is Stayed, Although Embrace
Is Said to Have Caused Collision.

Charles Grosberg, 4407 Washington boulevard, was fined $10 by Judge Sanders in police court this morning for careless driving, but the fine was stayed on payment of costs.

The question was whether Gros-berg had his arm about the woman who was with him when he drove his automobile west on Lindell boulevard on Oct. 9, and collided with the motor cycle of Policeman Wilson. A man named Pryor, watchman at the Elks' Club, 3619 Lindell boulevard, testified that he did. Grosberg denied it and said that the woman was his sister.

M'CULLOCH TO BE ASKED TO APPROVE TAX ON EARNINGS

U. R. President Will Be Invited to Aldermanic Meeting to State Attitude on Proposal.

SUBWAY PLAN FAVORED

Mill Tax Will Be Abolished by Committee's Plan If Company Agrees to Levy.

President McCulloch of the United Railways will be invited to attend a meeting of the aldermanic Public Utilities Committee next Tuesday evening to indicate whether the company will accept an ordinance providing for a tax of 3 per cent on its gross income and a graduated tax on its net earnings above 7 per cent on a capitalization of $50,000,000, as a substitute for the present mill tax and franchise taxes.

The aldermanic committee last night, after a private meeting in the office of Chairman Schwartz in the afternoon, announced its final decision to abolish the mill tax and franchise tax in favor of the levy on the company's gross and net earnings. "If the company will concur,"

In addition to the tax provision of "ordinance No. 2," which the committee has taken as the basis of a new franchise for the United Railways, it was decided to adopt also the subway section of the second bill. This gives the board of control, authorized by the proposed ordinance, power to compel the United Railways to build and operate a subway when its earnings are sufficient to pay interest on its cost and reserves to the city the right to construct the subway and lease it either to the United Railways or another corporation.

Tax Increases With Earnings.
The rate of the proposed tax on the company's net earnings above 7 per cent on a capital value of $50,000,000 would be 25 per cent on this income between 7 and 8 per cent, and 50 per cent on the excess over 8 per cent.

C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city, informed the utilities committee that the tax on net earnings up to 8 per cent, would be $800,000 a year—if there were any net earnings. The tax of 3 per cent would yield $350,000 on the gross earnings reported by the company last year.

The committee fixed 6 per cent as the "reasonable rate of profits" on the company's capital value of $50,000,000. This rate was not reduced to a definite figure in "Ordinance No. 2."

Chairman Schwartz said that the bill, which in the main is "Ordinance No. 2," will be ready for public hearings probably next week.

President McCulloch gives it the company's approval.

The committee has not included in the amended bill any definite provision for requiring adequate service. The bill in its present form leaves this question to be decided by the board of control, one of whose members would represent the United Railways. City Counselor Laue has been asked to write an opinion as to whether the city could make the operation of a given number of cars a consideration of the franchise and whether this would be upheld by the courts.

It was admitted last night by a member of the Utilities Committee that two private meetings had been held in Chairman Schwartz's office in advance of the two public conferences of the committee at the city hall. At these private meetings the committee concurred in the amendments and changes that were subsequently made the subject of discussions and debate at the public meetings.

During the first nine months of 1917 the Post-Dispatch printed 3221 Classified Instruction Want Ads—1571 more than the FOUR other St. Louis newspapers combined.

WIFE GETS JUDGMENT FOR $2000 ALIENATION SUIT

Defendants Are Widow and Couple Alleged to Have Permitted Husband's Visits.

Mrs. Lulu Stutz of 1741 Mississippi avenue yesterday obtained a jury verdict for $2000 in Judge Henning's court in her suit for $10,000 damages against Mrs. Lena Milligan, Edward L. and Louisa H. Graubner, for the alienation of the affections of her husband, Edgar Stutz.

Mrs. Stutz testified that she and her husband separated March 19, 1915, when they were living at 2630 Tennessee avenue, and that the separation was the result of Stutz's interest in Mrs. Milligan, a young widow. Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Graubner are sisters and the Graubners were implicated on the ground that they permitted Stutz to call at their home to see Mrs. Milligan, despite the protest of his wife. The Stutzes have two children.

The defendants denied they were responsible for the separation of the couple. The Graubners were divorced last June after the alienation suit had been filed against them. Conrad Paeben, attorney for Mrs. Stutz, introduced a court record showing that at the time of the divorce they divided realty between them which, the attorney said, was worth $20,000.

SUSPECT SHOWS GIRL WANTED AS DELINQUENT, IS HIS WIFE

Edwardsville Man Says He Eloped With 15-Year-Old Who Escaped From Detention Home.

When police arrested Harold J.

Williams, 28 years old, of Edwardsville, last night, thinking he could reveal the whereabouts of a 15-year-old girl who escaped Sunday from the House of Detention they learned that the girl was Williams' wife.

Williams was taken in custody at the House of Detention, where he went to get a hat and coat that the girl left behind. He declared that the girl known to the police as Grace Dunbar, eloped with him May 24 last, and that they were married at Clayton. She is now at his home in Edwardsville, he said.

She was arrested as a delinquent

he said, when she came to St. Louis several days ago to look for him while he was here visiting his mother. He returned home and found her gone. He then came back to St. Louis, but meantime the girl had been arrested.

COMMISSION APPROVES ROUTE FOR FREE BRIDGE CAR LOOP

Cost of Building Interurban Terminal Is Estimated at $150,000—Two Lanes Would Use Tracks.

The Municipal Free Bridge Commission yesterday approved a draft of an ordinance for an interurban loop from the highway desk of the municipal bridge to the business section of the city. The proposed loop will run north on Seventh street to Walnut, east on Walnut to Sixth, north on Sixth to Chestnut, west on Chestnut to Seventh and south to the bridge.

It is estimated that the cost of the improvement, including the removal of car tracks will be about $150,000. Two companies have already applied for permission to use the bridge and the loop.

Clothes that are best for you to wear are the best clothes for us to sell

YOUR interests and ours in buying or selling in this store are identical; we can't do anything better for ourselves than to do our best for you. It's a very simple rule of business; if you get the "just right" thing, we've both got satisfaction. That's why we say "Buy our Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothes." We know they're what you want; we know they're the greatest value for your money; real economy in clothes. You can't go wrong when you buy these goods.

Hart Schaffner & Marx suits for business men

THERE are a lot of reasons why these are the suits for business men, but the most important reason is our broad liberal policy toward our customers; ready to refund your money if our goods are not up to your expectations. Our Hart Schaffner & Marx special models for business men are the finest suits that you can buy: all wool: the quality a tailor charges double for and they will only cost you from $30 to $45. In fifteen or twenty minutes we can give any man in this town a suit that fits his body, his occupation and his age.

Young men's styles

The newest variation in military models for young men will be found here in our stock of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes: belt variations, yoke styles. A great variety of beautiful patterns to select from. Very exceptional values in suits at $25 will be found here.

Combination topcoats

Our Hart Schaffner & Marx rain-proof topcoats are made up of the newest military styles. Its been a pretty hard thing to find a stylish raincoat but this problem is now solved in these stylish, serviceable rain-proof gaberdines and iridescents which we show here. Prices: $25, $30 and $35.

A large stock of the finest overcoats

We're ready for you with the largest stock of Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats we've ever had---military styles for young men---dignified Chesterfields for conservative men. Rich imported English, Scotch and Irish fabrics; also the finest American fabrics.

Prices: $25, $30, $35, $40 and $45.

Don't Gamble On Quality This Season

If there ever was a time when a man should make every dollar bring the maximum, that time is now. Some people are apt to get the idea that buying cheaper goods will solve the problem. It is a fallacy that we want to warn you against before you learn it in the bitter school of experience.

Now is the time to buy better clothes—to pay a little more,—to get quality—to get better fabrics and superior workmanship.

Wool is scarce, and only establishments of the highest integrity maintain high quality of fabrics and workmanship.

We advise you to buy clothes from

The House of Kuppenheimer

They are good clothes—will give you good service—and full measure of satisfaction.

Suits and Overcoats at prices ranging from

$25.00 to $40.00

We Also Have Suits and Topcoats at $13.50, $15.00, $18.50 and $20.00

To meet the popular demand—but we are frank to state that they do not measure up to the standard of quality of Kuppenheimer Clothes. However, in each case you will be getting a full equivalent to the price you pay.

(Men's Store—Main Floor.)

The Right Kind of Hat

Surely makes a difference in the appearance of any man. Let us help you choose the Hat that is most becoming. We are showing lines that include every type and style that men might wish for.

The Waldorf at $3.00

PERSECUTION OF GREEK CHRISTIANS BEGUN BY TURKEY

Relief Worker Says More Than 700,000 Have Suffered, Been Killed or Deported.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Not staid by the slaughter of hundreds of thousands of Armenians and Syrians, the Turk has also turned against the Greek Christians in his dominions, and more than 700,000 have suffered persecution in the form of death or deportation, it was declared here today by Frank W. Jackson of this city, chairman of the Relief Committee for Greeks of Asia Minor.

"The story of the Greek deportation is not yet generally known," said Jackson. "Quietly and gradually the same treatment is being meted out to the Greeks as to the Armenians. Although closely guarded, certain echoes of these horrors come out from time to time."

"There were some 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 Greeks in Asia Minor at the outbreak of the war in 1914, subject to Turkish rule. According to the latest reliable and authoritative accounts, some 700,000 to 800,000 have been deported, mainly from the coast regions into the interior of Asia Minor."

"The Greeks of Asia Minor always have been law-abiding and perfectly loyal to the Turkish Government. Under Abdul-Hamid they were well treated, but his successors adopted a program to crush them."

"Armenian Deportation. At the declaration of the present war all persecutions were stopped, but the spring of 1915 brought to the stage a tragic and real drama unique in the history of the world as to its horrors and destructiveness, that is, the Armenian deportation; under that innocent name the extermination of a Christian race was started."

"Along with the Armenians most of the Greeks of the Marmora regions and Thrace have been deported on the pretext that they gave information to the enemy. Along the Aegean coast Atalke stands out as the worst sufferer. According to one report, some 70,000 Greeks there have been deported toward Koria and beyond. At least 7000 have been slaughtered. The Greek Bishop of Atalke ended his life in despair."

"The latest account from Trebizond shows the towns along the Black Sea are being emptied of their Greek population. From London S. Crawford, missionary of the American board at Trebizond we have a letter dated July 24, 1917, in which he says the following order came from Turkish army headquarters at Samsun: 'Noon, July 25. Let no Greek man over 16 and under 50 be found in Ordu. Send all such on into the interior. As for the families, we will send further orders later.'"

"Mr. Crawford also wrote: 'First let us express once more our thankfulness to God for the deliverance He has sent us by the great, grand Russian army and people. We are more and more appreciating what the Russians have done for this region. Immediately after the Russian occupation of this province in April, 1916, hundreds of Armenians began to come out of their hiding places.'"

"From the Greek Minister to the United States, Georges Reussens, I have a letter dated Sept. 21, 1917, in which he says:"

"'Backed by the Germans, the Turks have put into execution and even organized their wildness. They have decided to exterminate the Greek element which is the most important and most numerous in Asia Minor.'"

"Under pretext of necessities of war, entire populations have been deported. Members of families have been separated. The old, the men unfit for military service and the women, were sent into the interior of the country, abandoned without the slightest help and exposed to all sorts of deprivations. The men fit for military service were taken by force into the army despite the fact of having paid for exemption; some of the wealthiest have even been called on to pay this exemption fee three times over."

200,000 EASTERN RAILROAD
MEN TO VOTE ON WAGE DEMAND

Per Cent Increase Proposed Representative of Unions on Canadian and American Lines.

OTTAWA, Ontario, Oct. 19.—Representatives of 200,000 organized railroad workers in the northeast part of the United States and Eastern Canada, decided here yesterday to recommend to their unions wage increases of not less than 10 per cent. The workers involved are conductors, baggage checkmen and yardmen.

The vote was unanimous. A referendum will be taken and if demand is sustained negotiations with the railroad companies will begin.

SUGAR SHORTAGE IN NEW YORK
Many Dealers Without Sugar
Others Limit Sales.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Wholesale sources of supply virtually shut off and retailers unable to obtain material. New York is threatened with a sugar famine. Many dealers have been without sugar for several days and those dealers who have supply on hand are limiting sales to a few pounds to each customer. Many have gone up and down the city trying to buy a pound or two and carry it home as fast as they could. Prices have gone up and are as high as 15 cents a pound have been reported.

Many restaurants have also abolished the sugar bowl and others are served one lump sugar.

Ten Belgians Plotted to Aid German

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Ten Belgians pleaded guilty to charges of complicity in a conspiracy which it is estimated German agents received $25,000 worth of contraband goods each week, when they were released in Federal Court here today. It is alleged the goods were carried to Holland on Belgian ships and clandestinely shipped to the Dutch across the border.

Prisoner Who Escaped Is Captured
CAHMI, Ill., Oct. 19.—The Stephens, who escaped two days after he had been sentenced to years in the Chester prison for killing William Poynton, was captured 10 miles east of here. Sheriff Morgan posted a reward for the capture of the fugitive, who was rounded without fight.

HOW THE FORMER CZAR WAS TAKEN TO TOBOLSK

Prominent Russian Who Had Personal Knowledge of Trip Describes Journey.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. HARBIN, Manchuria, Sept. 26.—The journey of Nicholas Romanoff, formerly Emperor of Russia, from Tsakoo Solo to Tobolsk, which was accomplished without the knowledge of soldiers and civilians along the railway zone which he passed, is described in detail by a prominent Russian now in Harbin, who has personal knowledge of the secret trip.

Because of the feeling against the Romanoff family it was not advisable to use the former Emperor's own train. Instead three ordinary first-class sleeping cars were provided for M. Romanoff, his family and their attendants. Three hundred soldiers also accompanied the party.

The train started from Tsakoo Solo very early in the morning of Aug. 15. M. Kerensky, the Russian Premier, personally bade the former imperial family good-by.

The journey required five days. All stops at stations were as short as possible, and the members of the party kept concealed while at large stations. Every evening after dinner the train stopped for an hour at some way side station or remote spot where Nicholas and his family might have an opportunity to exercise. Throughout the trip he seemed to be in the best of health, and took an interest in his surroundings. He was extremely agreeable to all the members of the party.

The former Empress, Alexandra Alix, remained in her apartment throughout the journey, where meals were served to her and her son Alexis. She had the appearance of a woman suffering from nervous prostration.

All the four former grand duchesses were in excellent health and seemed to be in lively spirits every day. All had their heads shaved, a practice popular with Russian women today in order to make their hair grow better. Little Alexis, although limping slightly, apparently had recovered from his recent illness.

Tobolsk is the capital of the province of the same name, and was the ancient capital of old Siberia. It has been an important refuge for political exiles for many years, and Nicholas and his family were quartered in a building originally erected for exiles and recently altered. Rasputin, the monk who figured tragically in the downfall of the Romanoffs, was born in the province of Tobolsk and erected a monastery in the capital.

SAVE YOUR HAIR. A 25 CENT BOTTLE REMOVES DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming outTry this! Your hair appears glossy abundant, wavy and beautiful

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.—ADV.

DON'T BE BILIOUS, HEADACHY, DIZZY, SICK, CONSTIPATED

Enjoy life! Live your liver and bowels tonight, and feel great.Wake up with head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, cold gone.

Take one or two Candy Cathartics tonight and enjoy a gentle liver and bowel cleansing. Wake up feeling grand, your head will be clear, your tongue clean, breath sweet, stomach regulated and your liver and bowels active. Get a box at any drug store now and get straightened up by morning. Stop the headache, biliousness, bad colds and bad days. Feel fit and ready for work or play. Candy Cathartics do not gripe, sicken or inconvenience you the next day like salts, piller colic. They're fine!

Mothers should give a whole Candy Cathartic anytime to cross, sick, bilious or feverish children because it will act thoroughly and cannot injure.—ADV.

PURPOSE OF PSYCHOLOGICAL TEST OF SOLDIERS EXPLAINED

Men Are Rated for Ability and Their Mental Capacities Determined.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Psychological examinations of national army men have a military and a medical purpose, according to W. V. Bingham of the Carnegie Institute, one of the seven psychologists who worked out the method.

The military purpose, he said, is to furnish commanding officers with a rating of each man in their commands by which they may be guided in making promotions or assigning special duties. The medical purpose is to find what men are so far below the average intelligence as to demand serious consideration for discharge or for assignment to simple manual work.

The test is a literary one and shows only which of the men can read and write. The illiterates are re-examined for manual skill. Those who can read are given tests to determine their mental quickness. Those who do not get good ratings are re-examined to discover whether they merely are slow or are of low-grade intelligence. Any who do not then make a satisfactory mark are grouped with the illiterates. After further individual examination those who receive the poorest ratings are likely to be considered for discharge or suited only for manual work under supervision. The examinations are being conducted at Camp Devens, Dix, Lee and Taylor.

U. S. MINISTER SAYS GERMAN EDUCATION BROUGHT ON WAR

Dr. Henry Van Dyke Quotes Speech
Made by Kaiser at Berlin
School Conference.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, former United States Minister to the Netherlands, in an address last night before the convocation of the University of the State of New York, charged that the German system of education brought on the war.

In 1890, the speaker said, the German Emperor addressed a so-called educational conference at Berlin and declared that "the school ought first of all to have opened the door against democracy," and added: "Gentlemen, I am in need of soldiers. We ought to apply to the superior schools this organization in force in our military and cadet schools."

Asserting that the sinking of the Lusitania was a malicious and premeditated act, Dr. Van Dyke said that although the big passenger steamer was sunk May 7, 1915, the medals presented to the submarine's crew bore the date of May 5.

UNCHARTED STREAMS CROSSED BY EXPLORERS IN LABRADOR

Joint Expedition Covered 750 Miles Over Route Never Traversed
by White Man.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 19.—Chains of lakes hitherto unmapped and rivers equally unknown were traversed in the interior of Labrador by the exploring parties of representatives of the National Geographic Society and the Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, which have arrived here. The journey covered about 750 miles over a route never before traveled by white men and was made more difficult by the fact that the five Indians who were taken along as guides proved to be unfamiliar with the country.

The party left Seven Islands Bay about the end of May and traveled north by canoe and portage, reaching Port Chimo, near Ungava Bay, Aug. 22. In addition to mapping the country, they studied its natural history.

Todd said the existing maps of a large district were found to be very inaccurate and altogether misleading.

SAVE 1/3 HERE TOMORROW! GIGANTIC CLOTHING PURCHASE ENTIRE STOCK OF A WELL KNOWN BALTIMORE MANUFACTURER SECURED AT A MOST RADICAL CUT IN PRICE

WE only wish that we were permitted to tell you the name of this manufacturer, for the mere mention of his name would emphasize the high-grade workmanship, the superb quality woollens, the up-to-the-minute styles and the extraordinary values that are being offered in this Gigantic Business-Building Campaign better than a whole page of description. But as these same Suits and Overcoats are being sold right here in St. Louis at a very much higher price this maker would only agree to sacrifice his entire stock to us (on account of a reorganization in their firm) when we promised to withhold his name in our announcements. Nevertheless each and every garment still bears his label and nationally known trade-mark, and the hundreds of men and young men who came here the past few days out of curiosity have instantly bought one of these fine quality garments the moment they noted these labels. Perhaps that is why the response to each day's offerings in this Gigantic Business-Building Sale has been simply amazing! The fact that we can assure everyone—right at the very beginning of the season—a positive saving of one-third their money on every purchase made here is creating such tremendous buying enthusiasm that we expect the largest crowds in the history of the store to take advantage of these exceptional values tomorrow. We remain open until 9 o'clock Saturday nights, but we urge you, in justice to yourself, to come as early as possible so that we may be able to serve you promptly.

NEGRO HITS WOMAN IN MOUTH

Loosen Several Gold Teeth by Blow; Accosts Another. Mrs. Lillian McDonald of 2721

Cass avenue and Mrs. Mary Sobie, 2945 Dayton street, informed the police that they were accosted separately by a negro in an alley near their homes yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Sobie said the negro struck her in the mouth, loosening several gold teeth. Mrs. McDonald said she jerked away and ran when the negro seized her arm.

HOOVER PREDICTS GRADUAL DECLINE IN FOOD PRICES

Plans to Publish Wholesale Figures in 700 Cities for Comparison With Retail Prices.

FLOUR IS CHEAPER

Says Results Are Evident in Lines Where Regulation Has Been Established.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Unreasonable discrepancies between prevailing wholesale and retail prices on foodstuffs may be reduced materially if consumers bring sufficient pressure to bear. Food Administrator Hoover intimates in an announcement of the approaching end of the high prices period.

A gradual price decline is predicted between now and the end of the year. Inability of the food administration to act in the case of retailers doing a business of less than $100,000 a year makes it impossible to control the great bulk of retailers.

It is planned, however, to ascertain and publish wholesale prices in 700 cities for comparison with retail figures in order to reveal to the public the extortionate practices of some dealers.

Hoover's statement follows: "The food administration considers that, subject to co-operation from the farmers and the retailers, the corner has now been turned in high prices and that most of the essential commodities should one after another continue to show reductions between now and the end of the year. The food administration has no control of either the grower or his organizations, nor of the great majority of retailers. The foundations have been laid for regulation of the intermediate trades and where these regulations have come into force and the trades co-operating finely, considerable results are evident in the wholesale prices."

Flour Prices Cheaper. "The current prices at which flour is being sold at the mill door in jute bags vary somewhat with the locality and freight charges on wheat, Toledo showing the lowest price at $10 for first patent and $9.70 for second patent, the highest being Buffalo at $10.70 for first patent and $10.70 for second patent; Minneapolis being $10.60 for first patent and $10.46 for second patent. This shows a large reduction under August prices."

"The regulations on the distribution of wheat and the manufacture of flour were put into force the middle of September."

"The average retail prices on first patents in 798 cities on Oct. 13 was $13.77, or from $1.50 to $2 per barrel higher than is warranted by the price being made by the millers. In other words, the retail price has not wholly responded to the reductions made by the millers."

"The bean harvest this year is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at approximately 7,000,000 bushels in excess of last year, or nearly double last year, and promises an abundant supply. The growers' associations in prominent bean producing states are holding beans for from 15¢ to 15 cents per bushel, against an average price realized by the grower last year of eight cents per bushel. There has been a 100 per cent increase in the Manchurian bean crop and it is now estimated at 2,000,000 tons. Owing to shipping shortage, practically the only outlet is to the United States, and these beans will flow into the American market from December until March below the prices now being demanded for American beans."

Corn Crop Larger. "The corn harvest this year is 600,000,000 to 700,000,000 bushels over last year and will be generally available about the end of November. In July and now $2.20 per bushel, in Chicago it stands at $1.80 per bushel in Chicago. New corn is quoted in Chicago at $1.13 per bushel for December and indicates nearly a 40 per cent drop in corn meal when the corn is generally available."

"The very large corn supplies from the new harvest, together with the larger supplies of barley, velvet beans, cotton seed, peanut and sugar beets, all promise much cheaper cattle, hog and poultry feed and will enable the production of beef, pork, poultry and dairy products at much lower levels of cost to the farmer than today and his lower prices of products. The packing, cold storage and other manufacturing and wholesale distributors in these trades are in course of regulation."

"Beef already shows some tendency toward reduction in wholesale prices, but these have not been so far reflected in the prices quoted by the retailer. The price of beef at the packer's door is 14½ cents per pound, as compared with 16 cents in the month of July, while the average prices of round steak in 798 cities is 31 cents per pound, against 37 cents per pound in July, thus showing retail prices have increased, while wholesale prices have decreased."

Big Potato Harvest. "We have a potato harvest of 59 per cent in excess of the crop of last year. The price at the leading points varies from $1.50 to $2.50 per 100 pounds, depending on the section where grown and the cost of getting them to market. The price, which is somewhat higher than at this period last year, is due to a tendency on the part of the producer to hold the potatoes for higher prices."

Maria Barrientos Sings Coloratura Gem

Voci di Primavera. (Voices of Spring.) Strauss. 49171, 12-inch, $3.00

How the heart of Strauss would swell with joy could he hear Maria Barrientos—the most sensational of all the Metropolitan coloratura sopranos—trill her bird-like way through his immortal Spring Song! More marvelous than the singing of a bird because it comes from a human throat, her voice surpasses the crystal purity of the flute. At the close is a wonderful climax—Barrientos and the flute in wonderful interplay.

Stracciari in Brilliant Soldier Farewell Song

Faust. (Gounod.) Die Poets. (Even Bravest Heart.) 49214, 12-inch, $1.50

Fifty years backward Stracciari turns the opera scores to find a song of warrior bold that gives his vigorous baritone voice full range and dramatic scope. The farewell song of the soldier Valentine as he goes to war seems as though it were expressly written for these present days. "Even bravest heart may swell in the moment of farewell"—Stracciari, leading baritone of the Chicago Opera, enriches these poignantly touching lines with grandeur and magnificence.

Popular Songs, New Dances—and Others

The November list of Columbia Records—which you can hear at any Columbia dealer's now—is one of the best-balanced lists ever offered by the Columbia Graphophone Company. It includes twenty song hits. Among these are "Send Me Away With a Smile" (A2355) 75c; "Sailin' Away on the Henry Clay" (A2364) 75c; "Your Country Needs You Now" (A2361) 75c; "I've Got the Nicest Little Home in D-i-x-i-e" (A2356) 75c. Among the ten carefully selected double disc dance records are arrangements of "Hello, My Dearie!" (A5986) 12-inch, $1.25; "Send Me Away With a Smile" (A5990) 12-inch, $1.25; "Everybody's Jazzin' It" (fox trot) (A2347) 75c.

than last year, despite the greatly increased crop, and to the temporary inability of the railroads to furnish equipment sufficient to move from many sections the quantity available at this time. The average price of potatoes delivered in the markets has closely followed the price which the producer has received, plus the cost of distribution to the market.
The larger supply of cars and the large harvest warrant lower prices
later in the fall.

"Beet sugar prices are being controlled by the manufacturers upon a basis that should reach the retailer
from 8 to 8½ cents per pound, depending upon the locality. Sugar to confectioners from beet factories is now being restricted and a temporary shortage in the Northeastern States gives no warranty for the advance by the retailers to over nine cents a pound, for this allows fair margin upon the price paid by them for cane sugar they are now selling. In any event, the rise in retail prices of sugar during the last three days in the Eastern states is solely due to the advancement of these prices by retail dealers in the face of a short supply, and does not bear any relation to the prices at which these sugars have been purchased.

"The price of new Cuban, Porto Rico and Hawaiian harvest in December, will maintain the best level
as soon as it is available. The beet level is one and three quarters below
August prices and without the concerted action of beet manufacturers and the refiners of cane sugar, prices would now be up to 15 cents owing to the short supplies during the next few weeks.

"Plans Cheaper Lard Substitutes.
"In order to provide equally good substitutes for lard and cooking fats,
the food administration is arranging for the import of larger supplies of coconut, palms, nut and soya bean oils. This should also affect the prices of soap.

"Since the food administration came into existence on Aug. 10 a great deal of exertion has been required to remedy food situations growing out of the overexport and short supplies of the 1916 harvest.
"There were no reserve stocks in practically all of the main staples with which to enter the new harvest year, and, in fact, in some of the principal staples the exports had proceeded to such lengths that there was an absolute under-supply of our own necessities during the past two months.

"On top of this situation, various factors have interfered with the earlier arrival of the new harvest.
The farmer, in preparing for a 30 per cent increase of winter wheat acreage in the face of the shortage
in agricultural labor, has prevented
the free marketing of many commodities, and in addition to these difficulties there exists through the country, owing to the large coal and munitions shipments, a considerable car shortage.

"Resulting from these causes,
there has been periodic shortages in
first one commodity after another,
in one locality in the United States
after another, and a large part of the energies of the food administration has been absorbed in securing a distribution and a redistribution of existing supplies in such a manner as to keep the country generally supplied with food stuffs, and but for the co-operation of the railways
in meeting first one emergency situation after another we should have had local famines in one commodity after another in a great many sections.

Control Is Limited.

"Furthermore, the authority of the food administration does not extend over combinations of the growers and producers at one end of the chain, nor does it extend over the great majority of retailers at the other end. The distribution chain lying between, that is, the warehouse, wholesalers, commission men
and manufacturers of prime commodities, has required a great deal of study and development for its proper regulation and these regulations are now coming into force."

Now that it is all over, Hoover said, it may be admitted that in September the country faced a serious shortage of flour and New York City
at one time was down to a 36-hour supply. Virtually the same condition prevailed at Philadelphia and other consuming centers.

Notice was given at the food administration that all dealers in foodstuffs required by law to take out Federal licenses after Nov. 1 should make requisition at once for application forms without further word from the authorities. All wholesaler, brokers and commission men
merchants and retailers doing a business of more than $100,000 a year
must be licensed to handle foodstuffs. Only one license is required
where a concern has branches.

WRITE SOLDIERS CHEERING LETTERS, GEN. WOOD URGES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 18.—
Gen. Leonard Wood, in a stirring appeal last night to 300 guests at the annual dinner of the Wyandotte County Good Government Club, explained the way whereby every American citizen can do his part toward making the nation's fighting force the most powerful and efficient of any of the warring nations.
He laid stress upon the campaign
now under way to provide recreation and rest rooms for American soldiers.

"Carry out these plans by giving until the spirit of sacrifice is felt,"
he said. "It is the duty of every American to feel this sacrifice, for that is one of his parts in this struggle for the principle of democracy."
"In my command at Camp Funston," the General continued, "I have 40,000 of the cleanest men assembled anywhere in the country. You should see that they get cheering letters and not be troubled with the anxieties of things back home."

MERIT SYSTEM IN MISSOURI PRISON IN EFFECT NOV. 1

Inmates Will Get Percentage of Their Earnings Under New Plan.

TORTURE RINGS REMOVED

Prisoners Will Be Divided Into Five Classes and Given Privileges According to Behavior.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 19.—The Missouri penitentiary will throw off the shackles of barbarism Nov. 1, and will take its place among the progressive penal institutions of the world when the merit system supplants the torture rings and the law allowing families of convicts 5 per cent of their prison earnings ceases to be dead letter on the statute books.

The Prison Board announced yesterday that the torture rings at the penitentiary had been removed from the walls and that the extreme punishment for obstreperous convicts in the future will be solitary confinement. The element of fear has been eliminated as a disciplinary measure and has been succeeded by the hope of reward.

Under the new discipline the convicts will be divided into five groups, A, B, C, D and E, according to their behavior.

All prisoners, on being committed to the penitentiary, will be listed in grade C. Class C inmates will be permitted to write a letter once a week, receive relatives once each month, receive an allowance of tobacco, newspapers, magazines and books, have access to playgrounds Saturday and Sunday, and will be allowed 3 per cent of their earnings on the first of each month.

Promotion for Obeying Rules.
Class B convicts will get double allowances of these privileges and will be eligible to work on the prison farm and in convict road camps. They will receive 4 per cent of their earnings.

On March 1, 1918, all convicts who have lived up to the rules will be promoted to Class A. Their privileges there will be much more extensive and they will receive 5 per cent of their earnings. On Feb. 1 all prisoners who failed to obey the rules for the last preceding 90 days will be reduced to Class D, where their allowances will be cut down and they will receive only 2 per cent of their earnings.

Prisoners who have been guilty of gross violations will be placed in Class E and will be permitted only to write a letter once in three weeks. Their allowances will be almost abolished and they will receive only 1 per cent of their earnings.

Any man who falls to a lower class, however, will be given an opportunity to begin at once a campaign to be reinstated in a higher grade. He may make application at once and after three months of good behavior will be promoted.

The Torture Rings.
The new departure in prison management here is the culmination of a fight begun by the Post-Dispatch and taken up by other newspapers and humane organizations of the State at the time the convict, Steve Wills, was kept in the "rings" several days.

The torture rings succeeded flogging as punishment for unruly prisoners, though convicts who suffered both say the rings were worse. A convict felt no pain when first placed in the rings. He stood with his feet flat on the floor and his arms extended but not stretched above his head. After several hours in that attitude, however, the strain on his legs and back became unbearable and the muscles of his legs refused to support his body and gave way. The only relief afforded was for the victim to double his legs under him and hang his whole weight upon his wrists held fast in the iron rings.

FLOWERS BLOOM AMID RUINS OF VILLAGES IN FLANDERS

Madonna Lilies, Mignonette, Roses, Buttercups and Poppies Peep From Shell Holes and Between Bricks.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—A letter written by a young officer in the fighting line in Flanders, sent to the Times, tells of taking possession of quarters vacated by a Scottish regiment and says: "Standing on an oak table in the middle of the dugout was a shell case filled with flowers, and these not ordinary blossoms, but Madonna lilies, mignonette and roses. I inquired where the flowers had come from and was told they had come from the utterly ruined village of Fampoux, close by. I set out to explore. Sure enough, between piles of bricks, shell holes, dirt and every sort of debris suddenly a rose in full bloom would smile at me and a lily would wait its delicious scent and seem to say how it had defied the destroyer and all his frightfulness. "Among innumerable shell holes there was a small patch of ground absolutely carpeted with buttercups, over which blazed bright red poppies intermingled with the bluest of cornflowers."

"The Frost on the Pumpkin."
Don't those frosty mornings remind you it is time to change your summer to fall weight underwear? Boyd's, 5th and Olive are now showing their usual large stock, including the most popular weights, fabrics and styles. Special lines at medium prices.

POTATO SALES CHANGED FROM BUSHEL TO POUND WEIGHT

Several Commission Men Change System Anticipating Order From Food Administration.

Anticipating an order from the Food Administration, changing the basis of measurement for potatoes and other products from the bushel to pound weight, several commission men today began putting the new system into effect here.

The action of the commission men is voluntary, State Food Administrator Mumford said by long distance telephone from Columbia, though it may be made compulsory.

Mumford added that if the Food Administration did order the change in measurements it would apply particularly to articles of uneven size. At present, he said, potatoes measured by the peck sometimes weigh 15 pounds and at other times weigh only nine, according to size.

George H. Zollman, a produce merchant, said the pound weight would be applied to virtually all vegetables and fruits with the exception of lettuce and spinach.

DR. COOK MARKED FOR DEATH CONSPIRACY, WITNESS SAYS

Hindu Priest Says Murder of Explorer Was Part of Indian Meeting Plot.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the Arctic explorer, and a crew of 19 sailors were marked for death by leaders of the alleged plot to foment a revolution in India during the war, according to Sukumar Chatterji, a Hindu priest, in Judge Landis' court at the trial of Gustave H. Jacobsen for conspiracy. This plot, Chatterji testified yesterday, was revealed to him in Manila. Capt. Cook and his crew were to be killed while on an expedition to the Himalaya Mountains.

Belleville Night School Resumes.
Sessions of the Belleville Night School, conducted under the auspices of the Household Science Club, were resumed in the Junior High School building last night. This class is held primarily for girls and young women who are unable to cook or sew. Miss Ida Krug, is in charge.

Boy Is Bitten by Stray Dog.

Liburn Wallace, 12 years old, of East St. Louis was bitten on the right wrist by a stray dog as he was landing from a rowboat on this side of the river at Convent street yesterday. The boy said the dog was running in circles and frothing at the mouth. A policeman killed it and turned the carcass over to the City Bacteriologist. Wallace was placed under Pasteur treatment.

"Camouflage" is the French war phrase for Jekyll-and-Hyde. It means disguising guns, military roads or ammunition trains, so that they seem harmless bits of scenery to the distant observer.

"Camouflage" is often used in Boys' Clothes to disguise the lack of basic quality through surface foldover and fussiness.

Our Boys' Clothes assume no cloak of "camouflage," nor the role of Jekyll-and-Hyde.

Only the best wools woven, the most expert inside tailoring and the truest needlework go into them. That's why they last to the last.

REDMOND MEMOIRS

DESCRIBE THE LIFE OF IRISH SOLDIERS

Written by Major Who Died at the Front and Will Be Published by Widow.

THE CAPTURE OF GINCHY

Famous Charge Depicted in Which Irishmen Won Important Ground.

By Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Oct. 19.—A series of vivid pen pictures of the life of Irish soldiers in France, written by the late Maj. William Redmond, the distinguished Irish leader, shortly before his death at the front, have been collected by Mrs. Redmond, and are to be published shortly in the form of a small memorial volume. Extracts from some of the most striking of these letters have been put at the disposal of the Associated Press. One of Maj. Redmond's letters deals with the capture of Ginchy by the Irish troops. "A notable feature of the charge at Ginchy," he says, "was that the Irishmen sang Irish patriotic songs, one battalion to the other, as they charged, and the effect created was most inspiring." The scene after the battle he describes as follows: "The Germans surrendered very freely, and in very few instances waited for the bayonets of the Irish. When able, the enemy made good his retreat, but when this was not possible, he surrendered and threw down his arms. In some cases, however, treachery was attempted. "I met a Munster Fusilier who in the confusion of the battle had got separated from his battalion. He was resting by the road waiting to find some one who could direct him to his headquarters. He was covered with mud, but full of genuine enthusiasm. "Germans Tried Treachery. "I asked if his battalion had made many prisoners. He replied 'Yes,' but added that once or twice the Germans had tried treacherous tricks. One party advanced as if to surrender, shouting 'Kamerad! Kamerad!' and when about 20 yards off opened fire. I asked the Munster man what then took place, and he replied, 'We knocked them over till further orders.' "One prisoner said, 'We do not want war—it is the war of the rich man, and the poor always suffer.' "Nearly all the Irish possessed some trophies of the fight; and it was a common sight to see even the wounded on the stretchers clutching in their hands German helmets and bits of enemy equipment. "Many of our wounded were just boys, and it was extraordinary how they bore pain which must have been intense. Very few murmurings were heard. One young man said to the chaplain, 'Oh, father, it is hard to be so far from home in the wilds of France. Certainly the fair land of France just here did seem wild—the trees all torn and riven with shot and the earth on every side plowed with huge shell holes. "Irish Helped Prisoners. "The Irishmen, while clearly immensely pleased with themselves, showed no undue exaltation, and their demeanor toward their captives was good humored and even kind. It was pleasant to see how tenderly they helped the wounded Germans along, and down the road from the dressing station it was a common sight to see our men helping along prisoners just as kindly as if they were their own comrades. "The losses in the Irish battalions were naturally heavy, but by no means very great in view of the work that had been done. "It is not too much to say that the whole army has expressed warm admiration for the action of the Irish troops; and the capture of Ginchy, coming hot-foot on the taking of Guillemont, has put, it is safe to say, an entirely new complexion on the whole position in this part of the line. "A captured German officer declared that his people had believed that Ginchy could not be taken. 'But,' he added, 'you attacked us with devilry, not men—no one could withstand them.'"

Former Fort Smith Mayor Fined.
FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 19.—A jury yesterday found former Mayor J. H. Wright guilty of nonfeasance in office, for his alleged failure to suppress an unlawful assembly in front of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Building during the strike of girl operators. He was fined $250. The defendant was removed from the office of Mayor early this week, following his conviction on a charge of making a pre-election promise.

$7,500,000 Russian Shoe Order.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Contracts have been awarded here for a million and a half pairs of boots for the Russian army at a total cost of $7,500,000. These contracts, with those placed by the War Department for the American army, make the enormous total of 8,400,000 pairs of footwear which have been placed within the last week.

Woman Hurt When Car Hits Truck.

FINLAND STRICTLY NEUTRAL, SAYS PREMIER SETALA

Coming of German Troops Would Find Russian Martial Law Supreme, He Says.

RUSSIAN BASES OPPOSED

People Trust Intent of Revolution, but Want Backing of Powers With Independence.

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. (Copyright, 1917, by Press Pub. Co.) HELSINKI, Oct. 18.—Finland is strictly neutral. If the Germans should attempt to land troops in Finland, Russian martial law would be supreme, the Finns, being all civilians, remaining as non-combatants, said Premier Setala in an interview with the correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

"I make this statement," he added, "because I do not want America to think our struggle for independence is actuated by German propaganda. We are pushing the question of freedom hard because we want guarantees of independence while it is possible.

"Finland trusts the Russian revolutionists' honest intention to liberate us, but we fear the revolution, running so wild, will end in despotism again. Meanwhile, now is our chance. But the willingness of the Finns to go slow is proven by the recent election. The Social Democrats, demanding immediate autonomy without even asking the signature of the Russian Government, were defeated, and the Bourgeois parties, which are no less eager for eventual freedom, won. The Bourgeois believe in the premises of the Provisional Government for real autonomy."

Russian Bases Opposed. "The real struggle between Finland and Russia is for complete, eventual independence. We want a Finnish republic, a Finnish army and no Russian troops or bases on Finnish soil, though we are willing to co-operate with Russia in foreign policy. Russia insists on naval bases and fortresses. To gain our freedom we need the support of the Powers."

In answer to a question concerning pro-Germanism in Finland, the Premier said: "While it is true that some individual Finns are pro-German, the Finnish Government has never had any relations with the German Government. By cultivation we belong to Western Europe and have always felt nearer the Germans than the Russians. We used to pray that Germany would defeat Russia, for in such a defeat we saw a chance for our freedom. But the Russian revolution promises more.

"If the Powers assure us freedom, we are willing to negotiate with Russia, but we must feel more certain of the Powers' support before we are willing to wait tranquilly for a general peace conference. Otherwise, the Powers cannot blame us if we push our claims while we have the chance."

All Finns Want Independence. Prof. Stohberg, leader of the young Finns, who framed the bill which is the center of the struggle now, said that while Finland wants a republic, she is loyal to Russia and is willing to have a Russian resident commissioner at Helsinki. "If the Powers would defend Finland's internal freedom as clearly as was the case with Poland," he added, "Finland would be quiet. Otherwise, there is no telling what may happen."

Former Premier Tokoi, who lived for several years in California and is now a leader of the Socialists here, said: "All Finns want independence. The only difference is in methods. My party wants immediate autonomy. I resigned on account of the dissolution of the Diet. In internal matters my party considers Finland already free, without further act by Russia. The question of independence in the election was not prominent because the desire for independence is for complete autonomy, but with Russian naval bases and fortresses. All other questions are possible of liquidation, though the Russians feel hurt by the Finns' lack of faith in the revolution. Finland is in ferment. It is unsafe to leave the assurance of liberty unguaranteed indefinitely."

ASSESSORS' PAY HELD UP IF THEY CUT FULL VALUE

Tax Commission Order Withholds Compensation Unless Returns Are at 100 Per Cent.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 19.—
Failure of county officials of Henry County to obey orders of the State Tax Commission to assess property
at its full value and to collect taxes on the basis of assessment fixed by the State Board of Equalization, has led the commission to issue an order to assessment and taxation officials
throughout the State to cease ignoring the law, and calling on county courts to refuse to pay Assessors who do not perform their duties in accordance with the law.

After stating that the law is not being followed in some places, the commission in its order says:
"It is ordered that only such Assessor as have complied with the law in doing their work shall now be paid; and you are directed to make no settlement now for work not done according to law, nor until the assessment has been corrected
and adjusted as the law requires,
viz. that all property returned below
its real value shall be raised to its true value, and all property returned above its actual cash value reduced to its true value in money."

Inquiry in Henry County.
Within a short time the commission will send a taxation expert to Henry County to make a complete study of the situation, and after his report is made, action looking to a literal enforcement of the tax laws
will be taken by the commission, it is announced.

Chairman Roach, discussing the Henry County situation today, said:
"The State Tax Commission is sworn to enforce the tax laws of the State and it is going to enforce those laws in Henry County and every other county of the State. The law requires that all property shall be assessed at 100 per cent, and the commission intends to see that it is so assessed."

"County officials who fail to comply with the law will be held strictly to account. These officials are not only presumed to know the law, but we have specifically called their attention to it, and there can be no excuse offered that they did not understand the requirements of the law."

In Henry County the situation is one of almost open defiance of the Tax Commission and the State Board of Equalization.

Assessors of the County not only have refused to assess property at its actual value, but some of them are shown by the books of the county to have reduced the assessments, and having made them on the 100 per cent basis.

$2,000,000 Difference in Figures.
Attention was called to the assessment conditions there a week ago
when the Tax Commission discovered that the County Board of Equalization, which consists of the members of the County Court, had certified to the State Auditor that the assessed valuation of the property in the County was only $8,321,775, although the State Board of Equalization had fixed the assessed valuation at $10,- 443,669. The law requires each county to collect taxes on the total assessment fixed by the State Board
of Equalization.

Investigation disclosed that the Assessors of the county assessed property at a valuation of $9,870,450
and certified this total to the State Board of Equalization. The board voted to increase the assessment of lands and houses 10 per cent, bringing the total to $10,443,669. The amount of $8,321,775 is $1,548,875 less than the total returned by the Assessors.

When J. Will Gutridge, County
Clerk of Henry County, was questioned about the situation by a Post-Dispatch reporter, he said there was no intention upon the part of the county to defy the State Board, and that the lower assessment was due to errors by clerks while he was busy
as a member of the County Exemption Board and unable to give the assessment his personal attention.

Mentions $468,957 Left Out.
He said the clerks had failed to include an amount of $468,957 for certain classes of personal property, but was unable to clearly account for the other discrepancies.

An examination of the books of the county shows that in seemingly carrying out the orders of the State Board to increase lands and houses 10 per cent, the assessment of each taxpayer had been increased on these items, but that in few instances was the increase as much as 10 per cent. The difference came about through a rule of the County Court that each taxpayer's assessment be shown in figures of even 10 dollars.
Thus if an assessment really was $575, it would show on the books as $570. The principle was followed as to each taxpayer on the books.

A Post-Dispatch reporter learned in Clinton that the 19 assessors of the county had received private assurance that the County Court would stand with them in failing to assess property at its full value.

What Judge Has to Say.
J. M. McKnolly, presiding Judge of the County Court, admitted that the court did not intend to interfere with Assessors who assessed at less than full value, even though the assessment was as low as 20 or 25 per cent of value.

that the State Tax Commission might go into the county and assess property at its actual value, Judge Mc-Knolly said:

"The State Tax Commission has no right to assess property. Anyway,
I believe the State Tax Commission
law is unconstitutional."

The Assessors' books reveal peculiar instances of indecision on the part of Assessors. When the Tax Commission law went into effect in June nearly all assessors had begun assessing property.

Shortly afterward they attended a meeting called by the commission,
and were informed by Chairman Roach that if they did not assess at full value they were violating their oaths of office and could not only be removed from office but could be punished. Nearly all left the meeting with a decision to follow the law.
Raised Figures, Then Restored Them
In Henry County several assessors raised the assessments they had made. One assessor increased the assessment of every taxpayer on his books 300 per cent. Another increased the assessment more than 100 per cent. When the assessors talked with the taxpayers, however,
they had a change of heart, and in several instances erased the increased figures and restored the old ones.

Madam, All Petticoats Are Not Alike!

Before You Buy Another Petticoat
Make These Comparisons!

YOU are mistaken, if you think all petticoats are alike. And you will do yourself an injustice if you buy another petticoat without knowing wherein the difference lies. That is why we ask you, for your own sake, to make these comparisons.

Compare the Waistband

Pick up any petticoat and look at the waistband. See how the elastic is attached.

Only in the Eppo Petticoat will you find the elastic sewed through and through in such a way that you cannot stretch it to more than one-fourth its total length! All other elastic waistbands must "go dead." Only the Eppo waistband maintains its elasticity for years.

Compare the Placket

Note how petticoat plackets are made. Compare others with the Eppo. Note that the Eppo placket is made in one continuous piece to eliminate any chance of ripping.
See how the Eppo placket is reinforced with an invisible strip of canvas to prevent the glove clasps
from tearing out. See how convenient is the side closing at the front.

Look at the Bottom

The braid protected bottom,
which is exclusively an Eppo feature, will meet with your instant approval. No danger of the edge of your petticoat becoming worn or ragged,

while the rest of the garment is perfectly good. This is one of the features of which we are especially proud.

Other Considerations and Comparisons

Consider the niceties of Eppo construction, the workmanship of the seams—they're made to wear—not merely to hold the garment together for a limited time.

The two clasps at the top of the placket
are not absolutely necessary—simply additional precaution against accident.

So it goes through every detail of their manufacture—no skimping—always a little better than seems absolutely necessary.

That's why we are willing and proud to sew our label in the waistband, to identify it from other petticoats—and that's why we ask you in fairness to yourself to compare it with others.

Try on an Eppo—see how beautifully it fits—how conveniently it fastens. Note the splendid materials and exquisite designs—and then make your choice.

Eppo Petticoats are made in best quality taffeta, jersey tops, all jerseys, messalines, wool jersey and a wide variety of cotton materials.
50 shades to select from.

Look for the Label.

Cottons from $1.00 to $3.00; Silks
from $5.00 to $15.00.

Are You Tired and Depressed?

Do you feel the need of a tonic? Is your appetite indifferent, and do your nerves get on edge frequently? Do you find difficult the work you once enjoyed? And, do you prefer to sit around, rather than take healthy exercise? These symptoms accompanied by fever may indicate a serious condition. If fever is absent, you are probably just "run down."

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

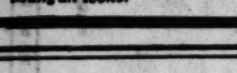

Pepto-Mangan has proven itself to be a reliable blood-food, and general tonic for weak, anemic, overworked, run-down and nervous men, women and children, and for convalescents, invalids, and the aged. Pepto-Mangan improves the health by enriching and increasing the red blood cells.

If you have a bounteous supply of rich, red blood bounding through your veins, your body will be healthy, your nerves will be strong, your appetite will be good—you will enjoy life.

Pepto-Mangan is exceedingly pleasant to the taste and is readily taken by children or those with weak stomachs. It cannot stain nor harm the teeth.

Friendly Warning: The confidence of the medical profession in Pepto-Mangan and the friendship of thousands it has helped have caused the spring-up of many counterfeits. Gude's is the one genuine Pepto-Mangan. It is sold only in bottles as pictured here—never in bulk. Reject imitations. Read circular around bottle. For sale by all druggists.

Buy Your Hudson Now At The Low Price

Prices will advance soon, but before that time comes our allotment will be sold.

Men who have held off buying Hudsons are going to be disappointed. They are going to wait until it is too late to buy one at the present low price. We expect the announcement of a price increase any day now, but before that time comes even our supply may be exhausted.

We have only so many Hudsons that we can sell at the low price we ask today. When these are gone, the next shipment from the factory will be at higher prices.

Men familiar with the material market, who have watched practically every other make of car go up in price, wonder why Hudsons did not advance long ago. Hudsons would have, too, but for the fact that Hudson prepared for the present market by her purchase of materials last year, when the market was considerably lower. Now these are nearly exhausted, and Hudsons built from now on will be of materials bought on a higher market. So Hudsons must cost more.

Will you wait too long? Will you be disappointed? Order today, for even tomorrow may be too late to take advantage of this great saving.

MISS ISABEL CABANNE IS ENGAGED TO WED

Will Become Bride of Lieut. Sevier Rains Tupper Late in November.

MRS. L. DUTILH CABANNE of 4515 Berlin avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Isabel Downing Cabanne, to Lieut. Sevier Rains Tupper of the Seventeenth United States Infantry, now stationed at Chickamauga Park, Ga. The wedding will take place late in November and owing to the recent death of the bride-elect's father will be a quiet affair.

Mrs. Cabanne, with her two daughters, Misses Isabel and Doris Cabanne, are at present in Erie, Pa., on their way home from New York and are expected to arrive next week. Miss Cabanne made her debut last year at an afternoon reception given by her mother and was one of the belles of the season. She is descended from an old St. Louis family through her father. Her mother was Miss Winifred Talcott of Erie, Pa., and is related to many prominent Eastern families. She is a granddaughter of the first Governor of Connecticut.

Three of Miss Cabanne's aunts have married into the army. Mrs.

Miss Cabanne met her fiancé last year when she was the guest of Maj. and Mrs. Parker at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Social Items

Miss Marie Louise Benoit and Lieut. Francis T. Bryan III. will be married tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Benoit of 4414 McPherson avenue. The Rev. Father Gillilan of the new cathedral will officiate. Miss Benoit's younger sister, Miss Lucille Benoit, will be her maid of honor and Capt. John F. Lehmann will act as best man.

The house will be decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and the ceremony will be performed before an improvised altar of greens and white chrysanthemums. The bride's gown is of heavy white satin with a medium length train. Over her long tulle veil she will wear a wedding veil of rare old lace which was worn by Mr. Bryan's sister, Mrs. Bruce Seddon, at her wedding and which belonged to her grandmother. She will carry a bouquet of lilacs of the valley. The bride's dress is of pink satin veiled in chiffon and trimmed with silver lace with tiny blue rosebuds on it. She will carry pink roses.

The wedding unites two old St. Louis families, for both the bride and bridegroom elect belong to families which have been prominent in the social and civic life of the city for the last century. Miss Benoit made her debut three winters ago. Mr. Bryan is the son of Francis T. Bryan Jr. and a grandson of Capt. Frank T. Bryan, now 90 years of age, who graduated from West Point in 1846. His mother was Miss Fanny Wickham, through whom he is related to many of the colonial families of Virginia.

After a short wedding trip Mr. Bryan and his bride will go to Manhattan, Kan., where they have taken a residence, as the bridegroom is a Lieutenant in the field artillery stationed at Camp Funston.

Mrs. John Ockerson and her sister, Mrs. Margaret Beach of the Kingsbury Apartments, are expecting Mrs. Robert F. Cowle of Whitehall, Wis., to be their guest for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Royall H. Switzer of 235 Westgate avenue returned recently from Bass Rocks, Gloucester, Mass., where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stegall of 14 North King's highway have returned from Wequetonsing, Wis.

Mrs. John Anderson Scudder, who until Oct. 4 was Miss Isabel Cabanne, has taken an apartment in New Bedford, Mass., to be near her husband, who is in the coast patrol service.

Mrs. Charles J. Kendrick of Webster place will entertain with a bridge party Wednesday afternoon at the Algonquin Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ruffner of 329 Westgate avenue, who are in North Carolina, are registered at the Grove Park Inn, Asheville.

Miss Lillian Aldrich of Dallas, Tex., is the guest of Mrs. George M. Burbach of 7012 Washington avenue.

Mrs. E. A. Nixon of 5066 Westminster place is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Louis Middleton of Kansas City. Mrs. E. W. Banister will entertain with an informal luncheon and bridge party Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Middleton.

The committee of the Alliance Francaise of St. Louis has sent out invitations to an illustrated lecture to be given at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Buckingham Hotel by Prof. Gabriel Ferrand of Washington University. The subject will be "Versailles, Les Triangles."

CHAMP CLARK FAILS TO REVIEW SOLDIERS BECAUSE OF COLD

Speaker and Kansas Governor Addressed 20,000 Men at Camp Doniphan—Parade Called Off.

CAMP DONIPHAN, Ok., Oct. 19.—Speaker Champ Clark and Gov. Capper of Kansas addressed more than 20,000 Missouri and Kansas

national guardsmen here yesterday afternoon at the Liberty Bond day celebration, which was marred by a cold north wind and a dust storm. Speaker Clark spoke briefly. He has been suffering from a cold. He dealt chiefly with the desire of all to co-operate with the soldiers. He asked that delays which are certain to come be excused, as the war is a tremendous undertaking. Both the Speaker and Gov. Capper emphasized the necessity of subscribing for Liberty bonds. Lieutenant-Colonel Bennett Clark, Mrs. Champ Clark and Gen. Berry were on the stand with the Speaker. The review of the troops was called off because of Speaker Clark's fear of being exposed to the wind. The 138th Infantry won third place in the athletic meet.

TRACES GEOLOGY OF ST. LOUIS TO PRE-HISTORIC ERA

St. Louis University Professor Addresses Natural History Museum Association.

OZARKS ONCE AN ISLAND

Estimated Strata Required From 100,000 to One Million Years to Form.

The Rev. James B. Macelwane, S. J., professor of Geology at St. Louis University, in an address before the Natural History Museum Association, at Central Library Wednesday night, traced the geological history of St. Louis and vicinity back to prehistoric times. Changes that occurred during a period estimated at from 100,000 to a million years were outlined.

"At the beginning of geological history, known as the Cambrian period," Prof. Macelwane related, "perhaps a million years ago, the region about St. Louis formed the bed of an ocean extending from what is now British Columbia to the Atlantic Coast, uniting the Pacific and Atlantic oceans. Even now we find sandstone in wells about St. Louis that once served as part of the sand bed of this prehistoric sea."

Ozarks Once an Island. "After many centuries had elapsed," he continued, "the water either receded or the land arose until during what is known to geologists as the Ordovician period St. Louis lay submerged in the sea about 50 miles off the shores of a barren island formed by the Ozark mountains. It was during this period that Missouri's vast limestone, zinc and lead deposits were formed from the shells and skeletons of antediluvian animal life."

The next stage in the geological history of St. Louis, Prof. Macelwane said, found the city's site perched in the center of a narrow isthmus, 50 miles in width, connecting Arkansas with Wisconsin and dividing the transcontinental ocean into two separate bodies of water. This period, he said, is known as the "Age of Fish," because of the appearance at this time of fish, some of which were 20 feet long and which had jaws four feet across.

"We determine the existence of these fish from skeletons and other relics found in rock formations bordering both side of the isthmus," the geologist stated.

"Preceding the next period, known as the Mississippian, this isthmus receded into the ocean, the latter assuming the depth of the Mediterranean Ocean. The shallowness of this sea resulted in vast quantities of shells and skeletons being washed up on the higher parts of the ocean bed, thus forming the principal limestone beds in this vicinity, which are contemporaneous with the famous Bedford limestone beds and are good in quality."

Huge Territory a Marsh.

During the following epoch, known as the Pennsylvanian or carboniferous period, St. Louis and the territory as far East as Pennsylvania consisted of vast swamps and marshes. Peat beds, forming at this time, were kept from decaying by the muddy swamps. The coal deposits were formed then for which this region now is noted. One can estimate the time required to form these coal deposits from the scientific knowledge that a coal strata of one inch requires 1000 years in which to form. Many coal veins are 100 feet thick. The famous St. Louis fire clay also originated at this time.

"St. Louis next appears as a stretch of dry land," continued Prof. Macelwane, "inhabited by the prehistoric relatives of frogs and salamanders. Cockroaches of huge proportions infested the swampy districts, while mayflies with a wing spread of five inches, and large worms, locusts and spiders lived on the dryer portions."

"This era preceded the 'Age of Reptiles,' during which the Mississippi River first came into existence. Gigantic reptiles came into being, some of them monstrous alligator-shaped bodies that moved about on four legs and were about 80 feet long from the tail to nose."

Crocodile With Bat Wings. "Another species of these antediluvian creatures was a monster resembling a crocodile, but which flew through the air on great batlike wings," he added. "These reptiles were both vegetable and flesh eating. Numerous relics have been found in the Mississippi Valley."

"After a period of several thousand years the Age of Mammals began. Then St. Louis, mild of climate, and covered with forest and underbrush, was the roving place of lions, elephants, tigers armed with saber-like teeth, and the forefather of the modern horse," he related. "Despite a popular belief that the horse originated in Asia, many geologists are of the opinion the animal had its origin here, although when Columbus discovered the continent the species was extinct."

"Another feature of this era was the growth of gigantic trees, now common to California, as far east as Kansas," he said. These trees and some of the elephants survived the glacial period that followed and were seen by the early Indians."

Prof. Macelwane concluded his history with the Pleistocene or glacial period, which preceded the appearance of man on earth. St. Louis was submerged five times beneath glaciers that originated in Labrador and Central Canada, he said. The extreme southern point reached by the second of these ice layers was about two miles south of Jefferson Barracks. What follows is comparatively modern history, the geologist said, although many centuries elapsed before human beings inhabited this region.

Kills Baby and Self in 5-Story Leap. CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Elizabeth Florian, with her baby in her arms, leaped from a fifth-story window of the West Side Hospital today when delirious. Both were killed.

KING INSPECTS RAID SHELTERS

Queen, Prince and Princess Also Tour London District.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—King George and Queen Mary, accompanied by Princess Mary and Prince Albert, yesterday toured the East End of London and inspected the air raid shelters provided in that section where thousands of poor families live.

With the approach of the "hunter's moon," which is expected to be at its brightest Tuesday, London is preparing so as not to be caught napping by German air raiders.

A DANDY LOTION MADE WITH LEMONS

Whitens, softens and beautifies any skin and creates a spotless complexion. Cheap, too!

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin bleach and beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. It really will bleach and remove such blemishes as pimples, blackheads, freckles and tan and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier which absorbs readily and is not sticky or greasy.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this harmless lemon lotion and apply it daily to the face, neck, arms and hands. It really does soften, freshen, bleach and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.—ADV.

BOLO PASHA WAS UNKNOWN TO BERNSTORFF, SAYS JAGOW

Passage in Lansing's Message Regarding Von Jagow's Query for News of Spy Declared False.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 19.—Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, did not know Bolo Pasha, the Frenchman held as a spy in France, according to the Tageblatt. Discussing the Bolo affair, the newspaper says: "In connection with the Bolo Pasha episode and the disclosures of Secretary Lansing concerning the part alleged to have been played by Ambassador Bernstorff and Foreign Secretary von Jagow, we are informed by a competent source that the personality of Bolo Pasha was not known to von Bernstorff in Washington, inasmuch as the Ambassador never made known to von Bernstorff and his banker intermediaries did not mention him. Consequently the passage in the alleged telegram published by Secretary Lansing, in which von Jagow asked von Bernstorff 'What is new about Bolo,' is false.

"This warrants obvious deduction regarding the trustworthiness of other details in this telegram."

The Tagesspiegel Rundschau says that the mention of Bolo's name in the Jagow dispatch is another forgery of Secretary Lansing's for transparent purposes. It adds that Bolo's name was not mentioned for the simple reason that von Bernstorff did not know that Bolo was the man who was negotiating for the Paris Journal.

Aunt of German Empress Dies.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 19.—Princess Henriette Elisabeth of Schleswig-Holstein, aunt of the Empress of Germany, is dead at Kiel. She was 84 years old. Princess Henriette of Holstein was married in 1872 to Dr. J. F. A. D'Esmarch, who died in 1908.

COST OF EDUCATION SHOWS INCREASE IN LAST YEAR

Figures in Grade School Advance From $33.48 to $34.75 for Each Pupil; Larger Fund Available.

It costs the city and State $34.75 a year to educate a child in the grade schools of St. Louis, according to the annual report of the Board of Education for the school year 1916-1917.

As is the case with all commodities, the cost of education is going up. For the preceding school year the figure for each pupil was $33.48. In the high schools the cost per pupil is given at $104.69, as against $104.08 for the year 1915-1916.

A total of $4,959,620 was spent on the schools during the last year, an increase of approximately $600,000 over the preceding semester. The receipts of the board were $5,278,286, more than $1,000,000 above the amount obtained in 1915-1916.

The increase is due to the sale of school bonds last January.

SHORTAGE OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—War has driven on the nation's teaching force to such an extent that schools are closing at an alarming rate, according to Dr. M. L. Prentiss, head immigration inspector and chief of the local division of the Government Bureau of Employment.

Thirty-five per cent of the country's teachers, Dr. Prentiss said, either have enlisted or have been drafted since July 1. It has been found almost impossible, he declared, to get male teachers for the schools. Many of the vacancies are filled by women, he said, but they are coming in every day for teachers.

Answering Inquiries Regarding Franchise Taxes

In a letter just to hand we are asked:

"Why do you call the mill tax, the license taxes paid by your constituent companies and the proposed gross receipts tax 'franchise' taxes?"

"Why do you object to paying any tax on your valuable privilege of doing business in the public streets?"

We describe the mill tax, the license taxes and the proposed gross receipts tax as "franchise taxes" because they ARE franchise taxes.

A public utility franchise is a written permit to do business in the City streets for a stated term of years.

The mill tax, the license taxes and the proposed gross receipts tax are all franchise taxes because each is levied or proposed to be levied as an extra payment to the City for our use of the streets—over and above our $660,000 a year of general property and paving taxes. They are TAXES ON OUR PERMITS TO USE THE STREETS.

We object to paying any tax on our franchises because the State since 1913 has forbidden us to derive any money value from them. We can't capitalize them, can't pay dividends on them, can't sell them.

The privilege of running passenger cars in public streets IS a valuable one—but not to the Company that runs the cars. It is valuable only to the passengers, who thus get car service much cheaper than if the Company had to buy private rights of way for all its lines.

The City Government today is taxing this Company $480,000 a year on franchise values on top of $660,000 a year of property and paving taxes.

When the City asks YOU to pay a tax, it has to prove you own property subject to such tax.

In our case, the City is engaged in proving we don't own the property on which it taxes us $480,000 a year.

The City is doing this by requiring us to cut down our securities from $101,000,000 to $60,000,000, so as to wipe out any stock issued against the presumptive earning and sale value of our franchise. It is requiring us to accept 6% a year—if we can earn it—on the $60,000,000 plant value of our property established by the City's consulting engineer.

Prior to 1913 Missouri utility companies supposed they owned franchise values. The City sold them and the companies paid for them—paid for them with millions of dollars of franchise taxes, over and above the general property taxes which they paid on the same basis with all other taxpayers.

What the State did in 1913 was to confiscate the franchise values the utility companies had bought and paid for.

What the City is now doing is to tax this Company $480,000 a year on franchise values which the State confiscated in 1913.

That $480,000 is 6% a year on $8,000,000. Either we own that $8,000,000 of franchise values or we don't. If we own it the City should recognize that fact in its new ordinance and give us a chance to earn 6% on $68,000,000 instead of on $60,000,000. If we don't own that $8,000,000 of franchise values—and the State says we don't—the City should recognize THAT fact, and quit taxing us on it.

As a matter of right and justice, any franchise tax on this business is logically and morally indefensible.

As a matter of public policy, it would be far better for this community to have that $480,000 a year put into more car service, better wages for street railway employees, and the payment of a fair return on the legitimate investment in a great St. Louis industry.

It has been learned by a patch reporters that powerful influences, working through congressmen from Missouri, Tennessee, Colorado, have exerted pressure on the Department of Justice in Washington to order Attorney Oliver of St. Louis miss indictments against Franklin, president, and Cl Marsh, secretary of the Bankers' Trust Co. of St. Louis, which collapsed in May, 1916, an eight years' dazzling career in which dividends of 100 per cent were paid.

The charge being based on that by shrewd manipulation sets of the company were appear more valuable than were and that stock of the company was sold to innocent at fictitious and fabulous prices.

The cases are set for trial in the United States District Court Oct. 31, and there will be a hearing about the Federal if before that date orders received from Washington to the cases.

Powerful Influence at Work in Washington in Behalf of John E. Franklin.

BANK COLLAPSED IN 1914

In Dazzling Financial Career of Eight Years as High as 20 Per Cent Dividends Were Paid.

It has been learned by Post-Dispatch reporters that powerful political influences, working through Congressmen from Missouri, Texas and Colorado, have exerted pressure on officials of the Department of Justice in Washington to order District Attorney Oliver of St. Louis to dismiss indictments against John E. Franklin, president, and Charles S. Marsh, secretary of the defunct Bankers' Trust Co. of St. Louis, which collapsed in May, 1914, after an eight years' dazzling financial career in which dividends of 20 per cent a year were paid.

Franklin and Marsh were indicted Nov. 20, 1916, on a charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, the charge being based on evidence that by shrewd manipulation of the assets of the company were made to appear more valuable than they were and that stock of the company was sold to innocent investors at fictitious and fabulous prices.

The cases are set for trial in the United States District Court here Oct. 21, and there will be little surprise about the Federal Building in St. Louis before that date, as orders are received from Washington to dismiss the cases.

District Attorney Oliver, when asked about the report that the cases were to be dismissed, said they were in the dock in the same condition as other criminal cases.

"Any instructions I might receive from the Attorney-General would be a matter for me to discuss," the District Attorney said. "Statements such matters must be made by the Attorney-General, who is my superior officer. You will understand I am speaking generally. I am free to say that I have not received any instructions to dismiss the Franklin and Marsh cases."

Many Political Friends.

Franklin, as head of the Bankers' Trust Co., in its days of wild speculation and promotion of railroads, made many friends among politicians of power in Texas, and it is said that several of these, at least one of whom now is a member of Congress, have interested themselves in saving Franklin and Marsh from trial, and that their efforts have been supplemented by political interests in Colorado, where Franklin once resided, since the collapse of the trust company, and one or more Congressmen from Missouri.

The Bankers' Trust Co. had the most phenomenal career of any financial institution ever known to St. Louis, its stock at one time going to $25 a share. In May, 1914, it sold at $100, and within six weeks of that time had dropped to $20, a total depreciation of $4,500,000 in the market value of its stock.

Franklin, a country banker, moved to St. Louis in 1906 from Fredericktown, Mo., where a few years before he had started a bank with a capital of only $2000. Later he organized

Help Win the War! Buy a Liberty Bond!

THE POST-DISPATCH herewith prints the eleventh of a series of interviews with wealthy St. Louisans, pointing out the wisdom of purchasing Liberty Bonds for investment, aside from patriotic duty.

Alvin D. Goldman of 4613 Lindell boulevard, cotton merchant, whose views are given below, is secretary-treasurer of the Lesser Goldman Co., a concern which purchased $500,000 of the second Liberty Loan bonds as an investment and for the benefit of its employees.

Cotton Merchant Tells Why His Firm Invested $500,000 in Liberty Bonds

BY ALVIN D. GOLDMAN.

My concern purchased $400,000 worth of Liberty Bonds in St. Louis and $100,000 worth more in Little Rock, where we have extensive banking connections, because we believe all at this time should use whatever surplus funds they have in helping the Government win this war.

In purchasing these bonds we are recommending that all our employees, of whom we have 200, invest in them and we are assisting them in every way possible to make their acquisition easy because we believe in getting these bonds they are getting a gilt-edged investment.

It has been the policy of the Goldman-Lesser Cotton Co., to invest its surplus funds in Liberty Bonds as easily convertible into money and for that reason, when our money was not in use we purchased municipal bonds throughout the South, because we regard the placing of surplus funds in such securities as a safe way of protecting it.

At the present time we are particularly fortunate in being able to get Government bonds. Such bonds are always preferable, but not always obtainable. I would have no hesitancy in recommending the Liberty Bonds to anyone for investment because Government bonds do not fluctuate. As business men we do not buy these bonds with the object in view of selling them at some future time at a profit. We buy them because we know the Fredericktown Trust Co., the capital of which he quickly increased to $1,000,000, and when he had done so decided the field was too limited and came to St. Louis.

Organized Trust Company.

The Bankers' Trust Co. was organized by him with an initial capital of $250,000. Its principal business was to buy and sell stocks of small country banks, but finally Franklin had a dream of building a railroad in an undeveloped part of Texas which he would sell at an enormous figure. The funds of the Bankers' Trust Co. went into the construction of the railroad, until the value of the stock had been invested and virtually all the assets of the trust company were held by the National Bank of Commerce as security for loans advanced. When completed, experts appraised the value of the railroad at only $3,100,000.

Meantime the market value of the stock had been climbing steadily, due to the enormous dividends paid. For several years a quarterly dividend of 4 per cent was paid, and nearly every year an extra Christmas dividend of 4 per cent, making a 20 per cent annual dividend.

After the collapse of the company an audit by expert accountants revealed that it never had earned as much as was paid out in dividends. Officers of the company had a remarkable system of appreciating that is, marking on the books an increase in value of bank stocks owned by the trust company, and borrowing money on this inflated value. Dividends in many instances, according to the audit, were paid from borrowed money.

Capital Stock Doubled.

The capital stock was doubled and made $5,000,000 and large blocks of stock were sold, and it was through the sale of this stock that evidence which led to the indictments was obtained. When the company had all of its assets pledged and could borrow no more money the payment of dividends stopped, and the mar-

Help Win the War! Buy a Liberty Bond!

Among those caught in the crash was Harry C. Morrow of Clinton, who had invested more than $100,000 in the trust company. He sued Franklin, Marsh, L. S. Parker of Jefferson City and Joseph P. Graham, officers of the company, for inducing him to invest through false representations by Franklin, and that the others had aided Franklin in the manipulation of the company's affairs so that it was wrecked. He obtained judgment for the amount and interest, a total of $103,388.82.

About this time the attention of postoffice inspectors was directed toward the company, and on evidence collected by them, much of which was supplied by Morrow, they recommended that Franklin and Marsh be prosecuted.

Indictment in 1916.

There was a delay of several months in the presentation of the case to a Federal grand jury, but finally in November, 1916, after pressure had been brought to bear from Washington, the evidence was submitted by District Attorney Oliver, and the indictment was obtained.

The cases have been pending nearly a year. They were set for trial May 2, but were continued on the plea of John A. Hope, attorney for Franklin and Marsh, that they did not have funds sufficient to present a proper defense.

The continuance until the present time having been obtained, the political influences were set at work in Washington to bring about a dismissal of the cases.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Who Is Guilty?

Having just read in the Post-Dispatch of the arrest of a circuit rider's daughter, charged with the crime of stealing pretty dresses, etc., I am wondering who is to blame, she or the members of the circuit back in the country, who are holding up their hands in holy horror, exclaiming, "After all the church has done for her, and the advantage she has had, and after they had given her, each spring, fall, Christmas and Easter, their own daughters' worn-out dresses, hats, etc., how could she commit such an awful crime?"

The circuit rider's daughter, who may have had no other clothes for years, is snuffed at for having no style by the very folks who gave her old things, while they have a bank account and ride in their autos and starve the circuit rider with $200 or $400 a year. I have known such church members at times to refuse to pay the pastor and then try to have him put out of the ministry because he could not pay his grocery bill.

I also am a circuit rider's daughter. I know what it is to deal with pretty, new clothes and to long with such people. I wonder if the long sickness of this girl didn't leave her poorer and less able to resist the temptation?

Is it much wonder if some preachers' daughters must wear other people's old clothes when they are small, that when they are older they feel like taking other people's new clothes? I hope the Judge knows all about country conditions and circuit rider's daughters. If not, I hope he will look into the matter.

A CIRCUIT RIDER'S DAUGHTER.

Would Retain Mill Tax.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
It now appears that the special committee considering the United Railways franchise is unable to agree upon the exact form of the tax for use of streets to take the place of the present mill tax. The United States Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality and validity of the mill tax. This being true, why not let the Board of Aldermen incorporate in the new ordinance the mill tax and an additional tax of 1 per cent or more of the United Railways' gross earnings (receipts) to be collected by the city of St. Louis from the United Railways Co. during the life of the franchise, be it for 50 years or less?

GEORGE A. RITTER.

Missouri Churchmen Generous.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
In an editorial of Oct. 13, under the head "A Church Pension System," referring to the success of the Protestant Episcopal Church in establishing a church pension fund, you state that but $91,841 of the total of $3,712,000 is credited to Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and New Mexico. This comparatively small amount is shown in the first public statement of the success of the fund. So far as Missouri is concerned, it is credited with only $9196.86 of this $91,841, because its reports were unavoidably delayed, while the pledges and payments made by the local sons and daughters of the diocese of Missouri amounted to nearly $42,000. Complete reports have now been made of this to the secretary of the church pension fund at New York, so that the next report may show the correct figures for this diocese, and in this way increase the amount contributed by the Southwest district mentioned.

WILMER C. STITH,

Chairman Pension Fund Committee, Diocese of Missouri.

Overloaded Coal Wagons.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
While the question of the coal supply is before us, would it not be well to stop the daily waste of coal from overloaded wagons?

There are three very good reasons why this practice should no longer be tolerated, the first and most important of which is the economic wasting of coal, which is ground up into dust in the streets; second, it is inhuman to require horses and mules to pull these wagons, and, third, it is unwholly to have so many streets littered with lumps of coal to say nothing of the damage done to automobile tires and delay to street cars. The worst feature of this waste is that it is at the expense of the consumer, for by the time the wagons reach the cobblestones and begin to jostle over lumps of coal, the coal has been weighed and the consignee must pay for what the load weighed when it left the yard, not for what ultimately reaches its destination.

"RHETORICAL SHAM."

Col. Roosevelt, in a Kansas City Star editorial, sneers at our expressed intention to "make the world safe for democracy," when we have not declared war upon Germany's allies, Austria and Turkey.

If we are going to "make the world safe for democracy," he says, we must declare war upon Austria and Turkey and include in our announced war aims the freeing of the Armenians, Syrian Christians and Arabs from Turkish tyranny, the separation of Poles and Bohemians and Southern Slavs from Austria and the restoring of the Italians of Southwest Austria to Italy and of the Rumanians of Eastern Hungary to Rumania.

The Colonel says that unless we are determined to carry out this program and ready to announce our purpose we are guilty of rhetorical sham in pledging ourselves to "make the world safe for democracy."

Doubtless if the Colonel were master of America he would out-Kaiser the Kaiser in flinging declarations of war around and proclaiming what he intended to do with the modest navy of the United States and the army which is yet to be trained and equipped.

Since we have not yet got into the field against Germany there is nothing to be gained and much to be lost in dignity and in the esteem of the world by flamboyantly declaring war against all of Germany's allies and announcing a huge specific program of war aims.

We are at war with Germany without a flourish of trumpets. The first thing to do to make the world safe for democracy is to crush the German military power, which is the head and front of the alliance of the central Powers. We are practically at war with Austria and Turkey, since we are aiding nations making actual war upon them. If Austrian and Turkish ships or soldiers get in range of our guns they will be shot up. But if Austria and Turkey do not care to declare war upon us, why should we bother about it? We will help to lick Germany and that will bring up the whole question of a settlement in favor of democracy. The tail will go with the dog.

The "rhetorical sham" is in the Colonel's far-fetched, sneering attack on the administration which is preparing in earnest for a war to a finish with Germany and which will insist upon peace terms making the world safe for democracy, no matter who may be hurt. We are going into the war with dignity, determination and high aims, but without bombast and spectacular declarations. The Colonel is indulging in "rhetorical sham" for purposes unworthy of a patriotic public man. He does not contribute to the success of the war we are in nor to the first step towards making the world safe for democracy by trying to belittle the administration and bring it into discredit.

CHANGE FOR EAST ST. LOUISIANS.

The commission form of municipal government does not always result in the conditions most to be desired. It merely provides a short cut through which the people find it easier to obtain their wishes and to make sure of responsiveness on the part of those who serve the community. The quality of the government must still depend on the people themselves.

But in practically every place in which the commission form has been introduced it has caused a tremendous shake-up in old habits of community thought, in old lines of political effort, in old shiftness methods of municipal administration. It is just that sort of a shake-up that East St. Louis needs.

It would be justified in adopting commission government if for no other reason than to force a change in the sort of government it has had in the past. But after adopting it, East St. Louis would find that the change tends to greater economy and efficiency. When it is made easy instead of difficult for them to force deference to their ideas, thoughtful voters will naturally have a greater interest in elections and civic affairs. Approval of the commission plan will be asked on Nov. 6. Its adoption would be evidence of new and commendable aspirations on the part of East St. Louisans. It would make life more worth living in their town, create better home conditions, remove handicaps universally deplored in a city whose population increase is one of the marvels of Illinois.

The price of hogs has gone down $2 a hundred in the past month, but the price of ham and bacon is just the same. The consumer apparently gets nothing but increases.

AS PLAY RESUMES.

The teams in the great Flanders struggle, having made use of the brief rainy interval between periods to put on dry uniforms and hear a few words from the coaches, are lining up again for scrimmage. Encouraged by the line-smashing successes of the preceding period, Coach Haig of the allies is expected to continue his policy of short plunges between guard and tackle, varied by an occasional wing shift directed at the ends.

The heavy going has undoubtedly proved a god-send to the German line which had begun to stagger under the hard pounding it has been receiving. The muddy and slippery footing has offset allied superiority in beef somewhat, but it has necessitated many substitutions in Coach von Hindenburg's team. The German leader is indeed hard put to it to find enough men to replace his first-string Prussians and Bavarians. Unless he can find some way of plugging up the holes through which Canada and Australia have been slashing for short but effective gains, the day is as good as lost.

If the sentiment reflected by the rooting is any indication, the allies have a decided advantage. The red, white and blue supporters have completely rallied from their former discouragement and are delightfully shouting, "Touchdown, Touchdown!" while the red, white and black grandstands are moaning "Hold that line, hold that line!" The unexpected speed and whirlwind attack of France at left end and the stone wall interference of Lancashire at left tackle undoubtedly have taken the Germans off their feet.

The momentary diversion of the Crown Prince on the allied right has served to strengthen Coach Haig's position slightly, as the German line was penalized for being offside and has been set back for considerably more than the ground gained on the play. As yet, however, the Germans have shown greater weakness at center and on the other side and the allied attack probably will be concentrated against these vulnerable places.

As the players are lining up a new delegation of rooters from South America has taken its place in the allied stands and is vociferously singing, "Hall, hall, the gang's all here!"

A START ON A STATEHOUSE.

Missouri has made a start on providing herself with a new Statehouse.

That is to say, she has completed a commodious, well-appointed structure where those who serve the State may be conveniently quartered and where records of official transactions may be safeguarded. This week sees a new structure occupied, which is described as presenting many admirable and even attractive features, as making, in short, a most creditable start toward a Statehouse.

For, after all, it is only a start. A rain-tight roof, substantial walls, a lighting system and heating and ventilating apparatus do not make a Statehouse. These are essential structural materials. On the way they are utilized may depend in some degree the verdict on the wisdom and success with which we build.

But after these have been given place and form, another and even more important task remains. They make up only the inanimate body into which other creative forces must later breathe the breath of life.

A Statehouse that really typifies the might and aspirations and achievements of a great Commonwealth is, as a matter of fact, never completed. The work of fitting it as the central point from which the authority of a body politic is directed, of making it worthy of the beneficent ends which the Government of a self-ruling people has in view, of preparing it as the sanctuary of a people's hopes and the abode of forces expressive of their spiritual life, goes on forever.

At the point where the task of other builders ends, the work of art begins. We are so constituted that State pride, civic emulation, gratitude to past benefactors perpetually need the stimulus of very tangible reminders. A Statehouse is a place where distinguished service should be honored, where vivid records of things deserving to be remembered should be preserved. Painting should give its distinction to important facts in history. What a Western State has a history that lends itself more admirably to painting than that of Missouri? Sculpture should perpetuate the names of men of usefulness and merit.

Let us make our Statehouse a monumental structure in the best meaning of the term.

The price of salt is still stationary, probably because the producers haven't yet thought of a reason for boosting it, or perhaps, after all, the salt men are the real "salt of the earth" and love the lowly consumer.

REFORM AT THE STATE PRISON.

The punishment of the rings, long under the disapproval of the best sentiment of Missouri, and other cruel disciplinary measures are to be abolished at the penitentiary. Announcement of the introduction of the merit system as a substitute is gratifying. Convicts are to be graded according to behavior. Incentive is given for good conduct by according to those of the higher grades privileges withheld from lower grades.

Confidence in the workings of the new system might be greater if initiated under other auspices than those of Porter Gilvin, lately appointed Warden. As deputy at the prison for many years, he has not, so far as is known, shown himself particularly receptive to new ideas in the management of such institutions. He was, in fact, the official who has carried into effect the harsh unintelligent policies of past managements that brought the institution under reproach.

A Warden of different past associations, one who had been brought into contact with the workings of the new penology and who was not identified in the minds of the present convicts with the methods of his predecessors, would have a promise of greater success with the reformed system. No disposition, however, exists to judge Mr. Gilvin by any other test than that of results. He may be assured of public co-operation if he shows sincerity and capacity. To gain recognition he has only to make the prison what the people want it to be. That is, an institution devoted to the education and reclamation of unfortunate and not to contractors' gains; an institution of humanity, not vindictiveness and spite.

Count von Reventlow, the German braggart, now takes it out in whining. He complains tearfully that the British have reduced submarine sinkings by making sudden changes in the steamship routes.

CRACKING SOUNDS FROM GERMANY.

Renewed reports of mutiny in the German navy, coming at this time from Ostend, long used as a submarine base, confirm statements frequently made of late that the glamor of service upon undersea boats has gone and that threats as well as promises are of no avail.

Revolts in the German military service, where discipline is notoriously severe, are especially significant when they are related to submarine warfare, but even greater importance must be attached to them as they are shown to proceed from political unrest and the hardships of insufficient food and clothing. War machines which ask the impossible in a wicked war, even of a nation trained to obey, must have something more than iron crosses to offer as an incentive.

Without exaggerating these military and social outbreaks, more of which will follow, they may properly be accepted as symptomatic of German conditions. Autocracy has been powerful because it has convinced the people that it was infallible and invincible. Now that the humblest subject sees and knows that it is neither, it is confronting perils at home as well as abroad.

Every hint of insubordination among the docile German races must be accepted in America as a herald of the day prophetically proclaimed by President Wilson a year ago, when he said that the peace to come would not be decreed and guaranteed by a small coterie, but by the German people themselves.

THE NEW LEGIONS.

UNCLE SAM and his nasal twang
Many a laugh provoked before;
His manners crude and his Yankee slang

Tickled the watching world of yore;
Now his whiskered chin no more Rouses humor of speech or pen;
Europe sees, with respect galore,
Uncle Sam and his marching men.

Uncle Sam and his money tick
Often irked the folk refined;
His dollar-doting, new-made rich
Menaced the pence, blue-blood kind;
Now to his follies all are blind,
Sizing him up with a larger ken,
Awake to a valor, golden-lined:
Uncle Sam and his marching men.

Uncle Sam and his endless brag Stirred the scorn of a hemisphere;
His eagle fierce and his starry flag
Oversea raised a constant sneer;
Now the people, peasant and peer,
Hail his might, again and again,
And all together arise to cheer
Uncle Sam and his marching men.

Uncle Sam and his wealth untold
Now look good to the nations all;
Hither they come for gear and gold,
Here find credits at their call;
Here depend for the foe's downfall
As a tramp rescinds from hill and glen;
Hark to the movement magical—
Uncle Sam and his marching men!

BANQUETS.

BEFORE the Grimps reached our shore,
all well-fed spreads contained a bore—
and tho' the land of these had naught
—some substitutes the Mayflower brought—so now when men tire of their friends and seek the cheer
a banquet lends—descendants of those bored they seek to come and after dinner speak.
If wine flows freely at the feast and Banquet has changed to beast—the harm bores do is not remembered and thus few speakers are dismembered—but be the meal a dry affair with some old foggy in the chair—then praise the Englishmen of yore with sense enough to roast their Boar.

The New Republic is disposed to think that the boasted freedom of the press in this country is becoming a pretty hollow thing. Is it, indeed? What does the New Republic understand the freedom of the press to mean? Does it mean that the press, at a time like this, can oppose the effort to line us all up in defense of the country? Not on your life, Mr. N. R. What a pretty kettle of fish we would have before us if all the Emmas Goldman and Max Eastmans, to say nothing of a thousand and one outright pro-Kaiserites, were belaboring the draft and the Liberty Loan? The freedom of the press has suffered nothing by the suppression of irresponsible and disloyal utterances in the United States. The press was at full liberty to discuss the advisability of taking up arms in defense of our rights on the seas, and all that part of it which cared a whoop outdoors for the country acquiesced in the decision when it was made. It was that part of the press which cares nothing for the country which became troublesome, and the Government suppressed it. Is the New Republic kicking about that? Then it is only getting ready to kick itself off the newstands. Does it perchance know of some other way than that in which we are proceeding to put down the peril of Prussianism, or doesn't it want it put down? We are afraid the New Republic is not altogether consistent with its high-sounding name.

Often people faint in some public place where the air becomes foul. People who are weak, nervous and convalescing from illness should avoid places that may not be properly ventilated. Many persons who faint if suddenly surprised, horrified, or if human food is seen. If fainting occurs, lay the patient upon the back with the head low and at once let fresh air into the room. It is well to sprinkle cold water upon the face, and hold close to the nostrils either ammonia, camphor or raw vinegar if the other fluids are not at hand. Gentle massage may be used in order to promote equal circulation. Sometimes there is no more sure cure for an attack of faintness than a hearty massage. It immediately stimulates the blood vessels of the brain. In many persons fainting never goes so far as a loss of consciousness or loss of control of the limbs, and in these the sudden weakness is often brought to an end by a sneeze caused by nature herself, without any external aid. A grain or two of pepper, snuff or tobacco introduced into the nose or tickling the interior lightly will usually insure a means. These simple procedures, or others, such as in character may prove invaluable when smelling salts and other elegant means are absent.

But if picked while very tender, cut from the cob at once with a keen knife that leaves no jagged kernels packed tightly into cold jars, which are then filled with cold water and cooked by steam, there should be no difficulty. Another way is to take extra large jars, say of the 4-quart size, and can the corn on the cob. To do this it is necessary to select very tender ears or a small cob variety. They should be subjected to the boiling process for an hour and a half on each of three days. The result will be a platter of corn as good as the one on your table in midwinter when in appearance and flavor to that of summer—Country Gentleman.

How to Train Your Children

Helpful Suggestions to Mothers Prepared by Experts for the United States Bureau of Education.

P. CLAXTON, United States Commissioner of Education, at Washington, D. C., has prepared for the conservation of blood, a series of articles prepared by mothers who have been teachers and whose experience may therefore be presumed to be of value. Many of the writers are women of literary training. The suggestions on the training of little children are issued by the United States Bureau of Education and the National Kindergarten Association.

MRS. BERTHA EMELIN.

WALKS and talks foster a desire for wholesome recreation that is full of empty mental, and that can be shared with others.

On your walks point out the trees that make the strong appeal to the hickory and chestnut trees, the hickory with their keys that fit snugly on the nose; the oak with its acorns that can be hollowed and used as cups or pipes. Collect milkweed pods and bitter-sweet with its bright berries to beautify the children's rooms. Pick wild flowers, such as the blue-eyed violet, the daisy, the black-eyed Susan, and the pansy, and you will soon be able to tell why the bees hover about the flowers, and you will also keep your eyes open for cocoons in the grass, and you will find a small chimney resting upon a saucer, the top covered with moss, and the chimney itself a small development of the butterfly emerges, the children will have had an experience more deeply impressed, because they are intimate, than any classroom instruction. As the children grow older, you will try different caterpillars in this same chimney device, and will watch the spinning of cocoons or the transition into the chrysalis state. Sometimes the children's share is usually sooner than your own, and you will discover eggs already laid on leaves, and you will watch them hatch, and you will find a small girl who was fortunate enough to see the eggs hatch about 10 minutes after she had gathered the leaves, and ever since she has kept her eye on the caterpillar, and the caterpillar and tadpoles are sure to be no strangers to the children, and will be most interesting study if a museum can be provided for them.

Get acquainted with the birds in the late fall and winter, when there are so few species that they can be easily learned and the children can be easily distinguished from the birds in the spring. The robin, the juncos, the English sparrow and the white-throated sparrow are these have become familiar to every spring bird, and will be added to the list of the robin, the grackle, the crow, the meadowlark, the song sparrow, the bluebird. With the well known, the child will possess sufficient knowledge to discover them for himself, and he will find the same delight in greeting the birds as the harbingers of the season.

The nests that are commonly seen in the chipping sparrow in the hedge, the robin's stockings hanging from a tree branch, the robin's nest in the clouds, or the robin's nest in the house, or the robin's nest in the house, will soon be readily recognized.

Language Study and Development.

Imagination.

Now your walks tell the story of the children's participation in the telling. Invent stories, basing them on a beautiful sunset which you are watching, or on a cloud in the sky, or on a scene in the varied forms, or on any other phase of the landscape which may attract you.

Repeat Mother Goose Jingles and get the youngsters to repeat them.

Count your steps from one point to another (with little ones only up to 20). Count forwards and backwards. Odd numbers, even numbers, multiplication tables, counting in adding and subtracting, and the like, especially during the colder weather, when one walks slowly,

"I Remember Faces but Have a Poor Memory for Names"

Author of a Book on "A Perfect Memory," Analyzes Mental Processes That Bring About That Embarrassing Situation and Points Out the Remedy.

"Of course, yes, I remember faces; but I don't have a poor memory for names."

How often do we hear that explanation made in business and social life by persons who, on being introduced to strangers, forget their names a moment after the meeting? Marvin Dana has written a book published by Edward J. Clode, New York, "A Perfect Memory: How to Have and Keep It" in which he analyzes the mental processes that make up our memory and shows how to improve them. Illustration, a common failing, the mind fails to record permanently vital impressions. Following is his interesting explanation why we neglect to remember names:

Memory Is Concentration

IN the act of memory, one must shut out from his mind for an interval everything except the single thing to be remembered. By this means, the rays of thought, like the beams of light that pass through the lens of the camera, shine from the thing to be remembered directly upon the brain-cells that are to serve as the sensitive plate in recording the mental picture.

PERHAPS, the commonest instance of a lack of concentration that is really nothing other than absent-mindedness is in connection with the matter of remembering the names of persons met either socially or in business.

The average person, when introduced to a stranger, looks at the new face with some curiosity, gives a merely mechanical attention to the name, if, indeed, he notices it at all, exchanges a few more or less perfunctory words, and passes on to another meeting. Ordinarily, the appearance of the stranger holds of just that name and nothing else in all the universe for a second—it needs no longer.

The mental camera is receiving impressions of light from a dozen different sources at the moment when it should be only the photographing the name, when the recipient's brain should be clear for an appreciable interval of all thought whatsoever. The focus is blurred, and the stranger. Were this brief, absolute, concentration made, the name would be remembered with certainty. The effect of even the swiftest concentration is witnessed by the number of times the matter of remembering faces, then, is not most always a real attention given to the survey of a stranger's features.

Another factor is involved, namely, the vision registers automatically, as a usual thing, its impressions on the brain during the time while it continues. As to the name, however, there is rarely anything to command particular heed, although a distinct set of dull feelings is associated with the name.

IN making the most casual s knowledge of an inte
duction, the eyes rest on the face, and study the details of it m chanically, and thus they become the means of making a mental pictur more or less precise. While t eyes are thus fixed on the face, the
are actually holding their gaze co
centrated on it from the nature
the case physiologically, even wh
the mind of the observer is not gi
ing especial regard to the fact. Co sequently, there is an automatic a effective action, by which the face

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

By MRS. F. A. WALKER.

LET us consider the matter from another point of view. The prime cause of failure is that we do not remember a stranger's name. In fact, as I have pointed out, in the face of a name practically no heed is given to the name as it is spoken in introduction. There may be a mechanical recognition. There may be a mechanical muzzling of it, but there is no actual concentration, the intent thinking cannot bring about all this change. "It is a hard, cruel world," said Branda. "Here you have been foolish all your life, while I have saved my name. Here you have been vain and been wise, and now you have a poor memory is blamed."

photographed with some degree of definiteness on the brain, though the will does not specifically direct the operation. . . . So, we, the well-nigh universal lament: "O yes, I remember faces; but I have poor memory for names."

In the case of faces, there is at least the involuntary concentration in the case of names, the probabilities are in favor of there being concentration, neither common garden, nor esoteric.

The Kansas Farmers Will Show the Pikers How They Raise Cane in Manhattan

PIKERS' CRIPPLES TO PLAY AGAINST AGGIES, SATURDAY

Marquard for Newport Will Be the Only Substitution at Game's Start.

FIVE REGULARS HURT

But Owing to Shortage of Men Coach Rutherford Will Have to Play Four of Them.

Washington University's crippled football squad departed at 9 o'clock this morning for Manhattan, Kan., when the football team is scheduled to oppose the Kansas Agricultural and Mechanical School eleven in a Valley Conference championship game—the first title contest for Washington, this season.

Seventeen Men Make Trip.

Coach Rutherford chartered his 17 Pikewar performers to Manhattan this morning with the hope of holding eleven regulars to a respectable score. It was the only hope he could entertain. Because of a lack of competent substitutes, four of those mentioned five injured players will be forced to start the game. Newport, right guard, is in too bad a condition to start and will play unless Al Marquard, his successor, fails to hold his own. Nelson, another Pikewar regular, was injured to such an extent, Thursday, that he is now in the hospital.

Outside of Marquard's replacing of Newport, the lineup against the Aggies will be the same as that which took the field against Lombard last Saturday. It is as follows: Ends, Kling and Berger; tackles, Kurr and Grossman; guards, Noble and Marquard; center, Kremer; quarterback, Benway; half backs, Berger and Foelch; fullback, Meyer. Right Newport, Smith and Vosburg are the line alternates, while Brooks and Rowley are the only backfield reserves.

In tomorrow's game, Coach Rutherford will depend upon Noble to do all the kicking off, in place of Kling. This is considered a strategic move by the injured, inasmuch as it will enable Capt. "Bud" to get down the field and do his kicking without the return. Noble in practice this week has shown form at the stationery boot.

Something new in Pikewar defense has also been rigged up. It is the pulling back of Kremer to the line and defense and the substitution of another man in his pivot place. Kremer is one of the best defensive players on the team and against a team that uses more off-tackle and round-end plays than center backs this should be a wise change. Yesterday the ex-Webster player was nailing men on the flank of the line.

The Freshmen scrimmaged with the varsity yesterday and the mixup looked more like a game of tag than preparation for a mixup with the Aggies. Kling, Berger and Foelch were not allowed to tackle because of their injuries and the opponent was "down" when caught by one of these men. Marquard's shining light was yesterday in the scrimmage. He was breaking through the "frost" barrier with precision and nailing Grogan's men behind their own line.

McKinley Plays Webster in High School Feature Game Tomorrow

Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby the Webster High School football eleven, conceded county champions, will meet the McKinley High School team tomorrow for the interscholastic League title, on Francis Field, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

As the Webster eleven has not yet scheduled games with any of the other city teams, the contest will at least serve as a comparison of the comparative merits of the city and county champions.

Webster and McKinley have neither been tried as yet. Both have defeated weak opponents with ease. Webster defeated the Washington University freshmen, 13 to 7, but this was after the Pikewar yearlings had been subjected to a week of scrimmaging by the varsity. Tomorrow's contest should be one of the best scholastic games of the season.

Soldan Plays Freshmen.

The best local secondary game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon will bring together the Soldan High School eleven and the Washington freshmen. Soldan showed strength in defeating the strong Western M. A. to a 7 to 0 tie last Saturday. Salver, fullback, and Gil Whitley, quarterback, of the freshmen are both out of the game because of injuries. Soldan should not have much trouble with Principia tomorrow. The North Enders will outwrestle the science school eleven at least 12 pounds to the man.

Chaminade A. C. the team which yesterday defeated University High School, seems to be the favorite. High Walker's players should have a romp over.

Cornell, defeated by Williams last Saturday, in the last quarter 14 to 10, lost practically every regular member of last year's squad through an injury. This year's material is

Coaches and Captain in Charge of Washington's Forlorn Hopes

CAPT. "BUDDY" KLING
Assistant Coach
Coach RUTHERFORD
S.H. MCCLUNG

War conditions have imposed many hard tasks on football coaches, but none more formidable than that confronting the "big three" at Washington University—Coach Rutherford, Assistant Coach McClung and Captain Buddy Kling. War has cut Washington's squad to little better than high school strength. Several players have been hurt. With this week ensemble the "Pikers" tomorrow face the next-strongest eleven in the Valley conference, on the enemy's home grounds.

Bob Fitzsimmons Dying, Wife Wires Friends in East

Physicians, Too, Say Former Champion, Ill With Pneumonia, Is in Critical State.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—That former World's Champion Fighter Bob Fitzsimmons has a faint chance in his battle with death, now being fought at a local hospital, was evident from a telegram sent today by Fitzsimmons' wife to Daniel McGinnity, 64 Market street, Newark, N. J., which read as follows: "Bob cannot recover. Please notify children."

Fitzsimmons has two children, Robert Jr. and Rosa. Fitzsimmons, who had been playing a vaudeville engagement here the past week, was stricken two days ago. When taken to the hospital his case was diagnosed as lobar pneumonia. He was very weak early this morning and physicians admitted his condition is critical. It was his opinion that the former champion has been suffering from pneumonia for several days, but had refused to take to his bed or ask medical treatment.

HARVARD TO DROP HOCKEY

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 19.—Varsity and Freshman hockey teams probably will be eliminated from the Harvard athletic schedule this year according to an announcement made yesterday by Frederick Moore, graduate treasurer of the university athletic committee.

"The undergraduate body is occupied with war," is the reason given by Mr. Moore for abolishing the sport.

Princeton Freshmen Football Is a Paying Proposition

This year in the absence of varsity football, the undergraduates have no place to go but to the first year exhibitions.

Syracuse will send one of the best eleven in the country against Pittsburg tomorrow. Its weakness is a lack of substitutes, the play of the team showing a decided falling off when substitutions are made. Bill Hollenbeck says that Robertson, the Syracuse center, is the best man at his position in the East today.

The champion freshman team of the East this year is probably that of Harvard. The team is probably averaging 180 from tackle to tackle, with 175 pound ends and 160 average backfield stars.

...this year are of the light-and-fast type. They are also very young, averaging 17 years of age. They have a great drop and place kicker in Le Roy, and a while of a tackle in Lassa.

Ohio State will probably play an all-star team from Camp Sherman for the benefit of the Red Cross, Thanksgiving day. Bill Edmunds, Michigan, former coach at Wisconsin, is expected to play with the "stars." Some of his team-mates will be: Talbott, Scovill and Goebel, Yale; Pontius of Michigan; Townsend of Princeton and Eichenlaub of Notre Dame.

WRAY'S COLUMN

To the Well Too Often.

AFTER coaching varsity football for a decade without having a team defeated, Gilmour Doble, who came out of the Northwest to take charge of the Navy's eleven this year, succumbed, his reputation shattered by an obscure university machine.

Doble, who was first signed to a contract to coach the University of Detroit squad, was released by that institution to permit him to accept a call to coach the Naval Academy eleven at Annapolis.

After beating Davidson College, 37 to 0, in the first game of the season, the Middies took on an innocent looking outfit, the West Virginia University eleven, at Morgantown. "Dobles" first setback in 12 years.

Doble may be excused on several grounds, however. First, the West Virginia team is a corker and ranks among the best in the East this year. It held the mighty Pittsburg machine, champions for two years, to 14 points.

Then, too, of the strong Navy squad of last year, many have been called to war duties, leaving a more or less green team to be developed. Navy "came back" last Saturday and rolled up 62 points against Maryland State University.

Doble can still do a little gloating when he recalls that in his eight years as coach at the University of Washington he not only had an undefeated record but his teams scored a total of 1269 points against 107 for the enemy. In 28 out of 44 games Doble's opponents failed entirely to score.

That's honor enough to retire on.

Why Take a Chance?

EVERY time a boxing match is held in the Coliseum under conditions that have existed there for a year or more, the promoters have run a real risk of seeing one or more contenders maimed.

Tuesday night, on five occasions, fighters had narrow escapes from plunging backwards over the edge of the ring. A fall that might have broken their necks. This was occasioned by the fact that the ropes of the Coliseum ring are kept so slack that there is no resistance to a broken ring. The promoters have run all promises, in order to win back lost prestige.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS AN UPWARD DRIFT IN THE LATE SPECULATION

Buying in U. S. Steel Causes a Rally After an Irregular Early Decline--Bond Prices Are Mixed.

There was a general upward drift in the stock market today, but it was not until the late afternoon that a real rally was seen. The market opened with a slight decline, but soon recovered and advanced steadily. The leading feature of the day was the buying in U. S. Steel, which caused a general rally in the steel stocks. Bond prices were mixed, with some advances and some declines.
